BRITISH TEAM TAKES POLO CUP

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 17.—Before the International Polo Cup, which was won by the British team capturing the second game yesterday, is started on its way to England, American poloists will probably have started practical preparations for another combat across the seas next year in an effort to recapture the trophy.

It was said today that American poloists have practically made up their minds to challenge in 1915, unless something unforeseen occurs to prevent.

When H. L. Herbert, chairman of the Polo Association, who is ill at the Vanderbilt Hotel, was told that the Englishmen had won the second and deciding game by a score of 4 to 23, he expressed disappointment and then exclaimed:

"Oh, well, we will surely win the next time."

Although the Americans failed to win a game of the series there was not a man of the four who had any complaint to make.

As Devereux Milburn put it, "we did our best but it was not good enough for we were up against a stronger team."

The secret of the British victory was team work. The Americans excelled in individual efforts but the British four played with the precision of a well oiled clock.

CARRANZA WILL NAME PRESIDENT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Mediation Headquarters, Niagara Falls, Ont., June 17.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza, first chief of the Constitutionalists, has been allowed to pick the provisional president of Mexico whose name is to be placed before the A. B. C. mediators, according to all signs and indications today.

Armed with direct and complete information from the official representatives of the Constitutionalists, the American delegates stand ready to name their man for the provisional presidency of Mexico.

The candidate for the provisional president is believed to have been agreed upon in a secret conference held in Buffalo yesterday when, for more than three hours, Justice Lamar and Frederick Lehmann, on behalf of the United States, and Luis Cabrera and Rafael Zubaran Capmany, on behalf of the Constitutionalists, discussed the entire Mexican situation.

Neither of the Constitutionalists representatives has been formally received into the conference by the three mediators, Ambassador Da Gama, Ambassador Nason and Minister Suarez.

Even disquieting reports which came from Mexico failed to shake the air of satisfaction borne by the four men and this demeanor was interpreted as having but one meaning—that a candidate for provisional president has been selected and that the delegates from Carranza had given pledges that they would ratify the settlement reached in the conference after this man has been formally chosen as provisional president.

If the Americans have elected to support Luis Cabrera or Iglesias Calderon for the provisional presidency, it is regarded as most probable that the representatives of Huerta will withdraw.

All indications now are that the Huerta delegates will refuse to budge an inch from the position they have taken. They will continue to refuse to ratify the selection of Calderon or Cabrera or any other out and out Carranzaist unless Huerta sends orders to do, which is unlikely.

They are expected to remain firm in the next full conference which is scheduled for Friday morning. If the Americans offer their own proposal in the form of an ultimatum those who have been following the proceedings here expect the conference to collapse immediately.

That the mediators feel that the end of their work is in sight is strongly indicated.

Cheered by reports of a break between Carranza and Villa, his most brilliant general and by the report of a rebel reverse at Zacatecas, the Huerta delegates kept their own views of the Buffalo conference to themselves. They showed by their attitude, however, that they were shocked that the United States government should send its representatives to meet representatives of the rebels, who are outsiders so far as the mediation conference is concerned.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Ashland, Ky., June 17.—Bank examiners today took charge of the Citizens' Bank and Trust Company, which was closed by the state banking department. Inability to realize on assets because of having too much money locked up in real estate investments was said to have been responsible for the trouble. The bank's capital stock was $200,000, its deposits $400,000 and loans $500,000.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Detroit, Mich., June 17.—In spite of the fact that every city and private detective in Detroit as well as a number of friends of the Rev. Louis Patmont, who mysteriously disappeared Sunday night, have searched continuously for thirty-six hours, no trace of the prohibition worker has been found. Some of Patmont's friends declare they believe he is dead, either by his own hand or from foul play.

Mrs. Patmont is a nervous wreck this morning and her home is closed. The Rev. Claud F. Witte and his wife, friends of Patmont, are emphatic in their assertions that Patmont was kidnapped to prevent his appearance before the grand jury at St. Louis, which is investigating a former "kidnapping" case in which Patmont was involved.

Examinations Postponed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

The municipal civil service examinations for the positions of engineer in the street department, fireman in the street department and fireman in the city fire department, which were to have been held on Thursday evening, have been postponed until Thursday evening, June 25. The examinations will be held in the common council chamber at 7 o'clock. Applications will be received on or before Wednesday, June 24, by Augustus Shufeldt, secretary of the commission.

FEAR MEDIATION IS A FAILURE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 17.—That mediation is on the verge of collapse was admitted privately today by officials close to the administration. It also was predicted that announcement of the failure of the A. B. C. diplomats to bring peace to Mexico soon will come in the form of the recall of the American delegates from Niagara Falls.

No one in a position to speak for the administration would venture a hint as to what course this government would adopt after the calling off of the peace conference, but grave apprehension is felt here that a state of anarchy may follow in Mexico which would again demand a call for armed intervention.

There was much uneasiness in official circles over the reports from El Paso of the break between General Villa and the rebel chief. Later reports received here stated that Villa had issued a statement denying he had severed relations with Carranza.

Should the report be confirmed it would mean a wide split in the Constitutionalists' forces and result in the old story of the "house divided against itself."

President Huerta would be placed in a stronger position by a split in the rebel ranks and that he will take advantage of the opportunity there is no doubt in the minds of officials.

DETROIT PROHIBITION WORKER MISSING

REBEL LEADERS WANT THEIR RIGHTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Vera Cruz, June 17.—Gen. Villa's coup at Juarez is regarded here as a desperate attempt of the Constitutionalists to establish himself as the military power of Northern Mexico. The Southern rebels, who captured Tampico and Tuxpam, are believed to be loyal to Carranza.

Gen. Funston, speaking of Villa's coup and resignation, today said:

"This probably means that Villa has fathomed Carranza's plan to give Natera more power. Villa after being ordered to report to Natera determined to take the bull by the horns and assert his superior strength. It is known that Villa resented giving authority to Natera equal to that held by him."

The general impression among American officers is that Carranza feared the growing power of Villa and had picked Natera as more pliable.

General Candide Aguilar, leader of the rebels who captured Tuxpam, is expected to follow the course taken by Gen. Pablo Gonzales, the Constitutional commander at Tampico. Gonzales has long resented Villa's assumption that he was the army chief and has been claimed to be Villa's equal.

Gov. Cabellero, the civil ruler at Tampico is a personal friend of Carranza. Negotiations have been going on for some time between agents of Gen. Zapata and of Carranza and it is believed that the southern guerrilla leader will cast his lot with Carranza rather than with Villa.

BALLOTING ON RAILROAD STRIKE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, June 17.—That 90 percent of the 75,000 engineers, firemen and engineers running west of Chicago, would vote in favor of calling a strike was the general opinion today. The balloting in the referendum is now under way and it is believed will be finished by the end of this week.

Negotiations between the men and the Board of Managers of the railroads were broken off on June 1, the managers asserting that should the men's demands be granted the wages of the engineers and firemen would be increased $35,000,000 a year.

Injured by Fall.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Charles H. Austin is confined to his home, 53 Hunter street, from injuries received in a fall from a ladder on Tuesday. At the time of the accident Mr. Austin was busy rearing the gutters of the roof of his property on McEntee street, occupied by Julius Zollmer, when the ladder on which he was standing collapsed and he was hurled to the ground fifteen feet below. Fortunately he landed on the wood box alongside the house which broke the fall and he rolled off to the stone walk striking on his shoulder. A passing automobile conveyed him to his home and Dr. A. A. Stern was called and found that while no bones were broken Mr. Austin was badly bruised and shaken up.

Rob Stones Chained Suffragettes.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, June 17.—Two militant suffragettes chained themselves to a statue in front of the Royal Exchange today and began to harangue the passersby. Soon an unsympathetic crowd collected and began to hiss the women. Then missiles were thrown. The militants tried to flee but could not release themselves. Policemen fought their way through the mob and rescued the women.

Fatal Railroad Accident.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Reading, Eng., June 17.—Many persons were hurt and the engineer of the express train was killed when an excursion train from Bristol collided with the express from Worcester, on the London and Southwestern Railway today. Both engines were overturned and the fore cars of both trains were splintered. The engineer of the excursion train and both firemen were taken to a hospital in a dying condition.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

He was 65 years old and was associated with the well known minstrel combination for twenty years or more.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Mediation Headquarters, Niagara Falls, Ont., June 17.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza, first chief of the Constitutionalists, has been allowed to pick the provisional president of Mexico whose name is to be placed before the A. B. C. mediators, according to all signs and indications today.

Armed with direct and complete information from the official representatives of the Constitutionalists, the American delegates stand ready to name their man for the provisional presidency of Mexico.

The candidate for the provisional president is believed to have been agreed upon in a secret conference held in Buffalo yesterday when, for more than three hours, Justice Lamar and Frederick Lehmann, on behalf of the United States, and Luis Cabrera and Rafael Zubaran Campano, on behalf of the Constitutionalists, discussed the entire Mexican situation.

Neither of the Constitutionalists representatives has been formally received into the conference by the three mediators, Ambassador Da Gama, Ambassador Naon and Minister Suarez.

Even disquieting reports which came from Mexico failed to shake the air of satisfaction borne by the four men and this demeanor was interpreted as having but one meaning—that a candidate for provisional president has been selected and that the delegates from Carranza had given pledges that they would ratify the settlement reached in the conference after this man has been formally chosen as provisional president.

If the Americans have elected to support Luis Cabrera or Iguisias Calderon for the provisional presidency, it is regarded as most probable that the representatives of Huerta will withdraw.

All indications now are that the Huerta delegates will refuse to budge an inch from the position they have taken. They will continue to refuse to ratify the selection of Calderon or Cabrera or any other out and out Carranzista unless Huerta sends orders to do, which is unlikely.

They are expected to remain firm in the next full conference which is scheduled for Friday morning. If the Americans offer their own proposal in the form of an ultimatum those who have been following the proceedings here expect the conference to collapse immediately.

That the mediators feel that the end of their work is in sight is strongly indicated.

Cheered by reports of a break between Carranza and Villa, his most brilliant general and by the report of a rebel reverse at Zacatecas, the Huerta delegates kept their own views of the Buffalo conference to themselves. They showed by their attitude, however, that they were shocked at the United States government should send its representatives to meet representatives of the rebels, who are outsiders so far as the mediation conference is concerned.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Ashland, Ky., June 17.—Bank examiners today took charge of the Citizens' Bank and Trust Company which was closed by the state banking department. Inability to realize on assets because of having too much money locked up in real estate investments was said to have been responsible for the trouble. FEAR MEDIATION IS A FAILURE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, June 17.—That mediation is on the verge of collapse was admitted privately today by officials close to the administration. It also was predicted that announcement of the failure of the A. B. C. diplomats to bring peace to Mexico soon will come in the form of the recall of the American delegates from Niagara Falls.

No one in a position to speak for the administration would venture a hint as to what course this government would adopt after the calling off of the peace conferences, but grave apprehension is felt here that a state of anarchy may follow in Mexico which would again demand a call for armed intervention.

There was much uneasiness in official circles over the reports from El Paso of the break between General Villa and the rebel chief. Later reports received here stated that Villa had issued a statement denying he had severed relations with Carranza.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Detroit, Mich., June 17.—In spite of the fact that every city and private detective in Detroit as well as a number of friends of the Rev. Louis Patmont, who mysteriously disappeared Sunday night, have searched continuously for thirty-six hours, no trace of the prohibition worker has been found. Some of Patmont's friends declare they believe he is dead, either by his own hand or from foul play.

Mrs. Patmont is a nervous wreck this morning and her home is closed. The Rev. Claude F. Witte and his wife, friends of Patmont, are emphatic in their assertions that Patmont was kidnapped to prevent his appearance before the grand jury at St. Louis, which is investigating a former "kidnaping" case in which Patmont was involved.

BUFFALO GETS CONCLAVE.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Rochester, N. Y., June 17.—The Grand Commandery of New York, Knights Templar, in convention here, this afternoon commemorated at services held in the Temple theater at 3 o'clock, the one hundredth anniversary of its organization. Argetsinger of this city was the only other speaker, speaking on "The Future." Rev. G. REBEL LEADERS WANT THEIR RIGHTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Vera Cruz, June 17.—Gen. Villa's coup at Juarez is regarded here as a desperate attempt of the Constitutional warrior to establish himself as the military power of Northern Mexico. The Southern rebels, who captured Tampico and Tuxpam, are believed to be loyal to Carranza.

Gen. Funston, speaking of Villa's coup and resignation, today said:

"This probably means that Villa has fathomed Carranza's plan to give Natero more power. Villa after being ordered to report to Natero determined to take the bull by the horns and assert his superior strength. It is known that Villa resented giving authority to Natero equal to that held by him."

The general impression among American officers is that Carranza feared the growing power of Villa and had picked Natero as more pliable.

General Candede Aguilar, leader of the rebels who captured Tuxpam, is expected to follow the course taken by Gen. Pablo Gonzales, the Constitutional commander at Tampico. Gonzales has long resented Villa's assumption that he was the army chief and has been claimed to be Villa's equal.

Gov. Cabellero, the civil ruler at Tampico is a personal friend of Carranza. Negotiations have been going on for some time between agents of Gen. Zapata and of Carranza and it is believed that the southern guerrilla leader will cast his lot with Carranza rather than with Villa.

BALLOTING ON RAILROAD STRIKE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Chicago, June 17.—That 90 per cent of the 75,000 engineers, firemen and engine men running west of Chicago, would vote in favor of calling a strike was the general opinion today. The balloting in the referendum is now under way and it is believed will be finished by the end of this week.

Negotiations between the men and the Board of Managers of the railroads were broken off on June 1, the managers asserting that should the men's demands be granted the wages of the engineers and firemen would be increased $35,000,000 a year.

At the time of the accident Mr. Austin was busy repairing the gutters of the roof of his property on McKintie Street, occupied by Julius Zellmer, when the ladder on which he was standing collapsed and he was hurled to the ground fifteen feet below. Fortunately he landed on the wood box alongside the house which broke the fall and he rolled off to the stone walk striking on his shoulder. A passing automobile conveyed him to his home and Dr. A. A. Stern was called and found that while no bones were broken Mr. Austin was badly bruised and shaken up.

SUNSHINE SOCIETY MANAGEMENT BAD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, June 17.—Condemning the "tax administration" of the finances of the International Sunshine Society of which Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden is founder and president general, the special committee of the State Board of Charities which has been investigating the affairs of the society today made public its report recommending that the matter be referred to the attorney general for such actions as he may find it possible to take.

The report also recommends that an investigation and audit be made, covering the entire period of the society's existence.

The investigators found that large sums of money given for charitable purposes have been improperly used in maintaining the Bensonhurst hospital and sanitarium as a losing venture, which moneys have been used in considerable part without business judgment or discretion, and under circumstances, which to say the least, are peculiar.

The investigators also found: That the society has no right to conduct the Bensonhurst hospital and sanitarium or the home for blind babies at Summit, and that all such work be immediately discontinued.

That the sum of $5,000 paid from the treasury of the separately incorporated "International Sunshine Branch for the blind" which maintains a home for blind babies at Dyker Heights, Brooklyn, into the maintenance funds of the Bensonhurst hospital and sanitarium the sum or at least $2,500 was unlawfully and improperly taken and should be restored to the treasury of such corporation.

That the management of the funds of the society and its branch, under the direction of Mrs. Alden, "has been loose and careless and in some cases without warrant of law."

At a two hour meeting of the board the report was unanimously adopted. The investigating committee was composed of William R. Stewart, President Herman Ridder, Dr. J. Richard Kavin and Horace McGuire.

THE EDDY IS A REAL REFRIGERATOR WITH SLATE-STONE SHELVES

Not an imitation. Not an experiment. Not a hollow sham. Not made for a parlor ornament. Not made to suit somebody's fad or fancy. Not made with open joints filled with cement to absorb grease and odors, and make your refrigerator a germ breeder.

But, made for what a real refrigerator is intended for, that is to keep food pure and sweet with the least amount of ice consistent to obtain a perfect circulation of pure, cold, dry air. The inside lining is airtight; nothing can penetrate back of it to breed disease and germs.

Absolutely Sanitary THAT'S THE EDDY

They are manufactured by

who have made refrigerators (and nothing else) for 67 years, 12 months in every year. Is not their experience worth something to you when buying a refrigerator? A word to the thinking people is sufficient.

DARING RESCUES AT BROOKLYN FIRE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 17.—Daring policemen and firemen, who repeatedly risked their lives, saved one hundred persons in three tenement house fires in Brooklyn early today. The fire at 695 Fulton street was featured by the dropping of babies from the windows into the arms of men beneath. In the other fires at 131 Ashland Place and 604 Fulton street, the police and firemen carried persons from the smoke filled apartments down fire escapes and then, as the flames spread, searched rooms for possible unconscious victims.

The police believe that incendiaries were responsible.

LEIBHARDT.

Leibhardt, June 17.—Children's Day services will be held in the M. E. Church Sunday evening, June 21. A fine program is being arranged which includes music in the Children's Day classics with solos, chorus singing and recitations, also a rainbow drill by the young ladies will be given. Every one invited to attend. Services will commence at 7:30 o'clock.

Stephen Tease of The Vly was a guest at the home of Mrs. Agnes Brown on Sunday. Mr. Tease attended the Sunday school in the afternoon and gave a very interesting talk to the teachers and scholars and also assisted with the singing which was appreciated by all. We would be pleased to have Mr. Tease come over more often.

Alton Hornbeck of Whitfield has been spending a few days vacation at the home of his cousin, Clyde Brown. The boys enjoyed themselves with trout fishing, rowing and swimming.

James Kelder will spend the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Rosewell Osterhout at Matiacahonta. Assistant Superintendent Peter Hornbeck conducted Sunday school on Sunday in the absence of Superintendent Edward DeWitt. The school was largely attended.

Miss Georgia Hornbeck and friend, Webster Brown, were guests of Mrs. Stephen Gorline Sunday evening. DeWitt Hornbeck and brother, Alton, of Whitfield and Mrs. Tease of The Vly were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Brown for supper Sunday evening.

Mrs. Perna Gray and daughters, Miss Annie and Mildred, were week-end guests of friends at Alligerville, their former home, returning home on Wednesday. Mrs. Gray and daughters attended the Children's Day services at that place Sunday.

The ice cream social held on the lawn last Saturday evening was well attended and proved a success in every way. People from Tongsore, Krumville, Samsonville and Whitfield attended. Nearly $18 was procured clear of expenses which will go toward paying the pastor's salary.

Miss Leopold of Ellenville is finishing the school term of three weeks. Miss Leopold is boarding at the Hill Side farm house. Friends in this place were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Bennie Gray, who was killed in an accident at the Ashokan dam last Saturday. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon at the M. E. Church at Samsonville.

Worried by Federal League.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Cincinnati, Ohio, June 17.—Stirred by the action of National and American League players who have jumped to the Federals and those who have tendered a ten day notice to their employers, the national commission will meet in New York Friday and discuss ways and means of putting a stop to the raids made by the Gilmore organization.

Fire at Highland.

Fire in the Highland garage caused some excitement on Monday morning. Only prompt action by the employees saved the building from serious damage. The cause is thought to have been from a vulcanizing machine which was left burning on an upper floor while the employees were at work downstairs.

WOMEN'S CLUBS FOR PROHIBITION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, June 17.—The General Federation of Women's Clubs went "dry" today.

In a resolution presented by the resolution committee and backed by the second of Kentucky, the Federation convention put itself on record as follows:

"Whereas, the liquor traffic is responsible for three-fourths of the crime, vice and misery in this country,

"Be it resolved, that the women of the General Federation place themselves on record as opposed to the liquor traffic and in favor of such federal and state laws as will tend to eradicate this evil."

There was no temporizing with the liquor question, even as it was read, a storm of applause broke from the convention. The delegation from Kentucky, popularly known as the nesting place of distilleries, arose to its feet at the chairman's call for a second. Other states clamored for recognition. Kentucky won.

At the request for the vote, a volley of "Ayes" reverberated to the platform. Not a dissenting vote was heard.

After the liquor resolution had been passed there was more applause. Singing broke out in three parts of the house at once and thus the women drew their convention to an end.

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, June 17.—Church services were largely attended on Sunday at the usual hour 3 o'clock. Three new members were added to the church.

Mrs. Priscilla Huggins of Lexington, who is visiting relatives and friends here, spent Wednesday evening with Mrs. Adaline Van Kleeck.

Miss Genevieve Moore has returned from Kingston, where she spent some time with friends.

Miss Theresa Worden and sister of Broadhead visited their aunt, Mrs. Herman Barringer, recently.

George Van Kleeck and Roy DuBois brought a load of feed from Kerhonkson on Saturday.

Mildred Moore returned home on Friday from a week's visit with friends in Kingston.

Mrs. Clara Konkle and little son, Lawrence G., started Friday for Canada to join her husband who has employment there.

A part of the summer residents have arrived in town. Among them are Mrs. Halveston, Mrs. Peterson and daughter, Christina.

Fred Davis was a guest of his brother, Chester, in Montgomery over Sunday.

Mrs. Alvin Wood of Kingston is stopping with her father, Pratt Shurtler.

The funeral of Pratt Poucher on Thursday was largely attended by relatives and neighbors. The casket was covered with flowers and a favorite hymn of his was sung by a relative.

Out the Life Line. Very appropriate remarks were made by the pastor, R. Braunstein.

Miss Ella Wyncoop of Tongore spent the week end with her uncle, John Beesmer and family.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Palen spent Sunday with Jesse Shurtler and wife and attended church in the afternoon.

The Rev. R. Braunstein called on members of his congregation on Thursday, among them being some who are not able to attend church.

Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. E. H. Shurtler. He also called in the village on Mrs. N. Barringer and Mrs. D. Van Etten.

Mrs. Minnie and Mrs. Noah Barringer with their daughters, Bessie and Myrtle, went to their farm strawberrying one day last week.

Sylvia and Esther Shurtler took a drive to Tongore on business on Friday afternoon.

At last account Lafayette Moore, who had an attack of fever, was improving and hoped to be able to take examinations as he is one of the graduating class of Ulster Academy.

Mrs. W. G. Moore returned on Friday from a stay of a few days in Kingston.

The church people are preparing for a festival on July 4, afternoon and evening. Meals will be served in the hall. There will be ice cream and refreshments in plenty. A general invitation is extended to all to come and enjoy the Fourth at Samsonville.

Decision For Defendant.

Edward Reis and Morris Basch recently brought an action in replevin against Richard F. Lang which was tried in city court before Judge O'Dell.

Plaintiffs by Newton Fessenden for plaintiffs and Andrew Lang for defendant. The court has just handed down a decision in favor of defendant for $15 and possession of the chattels until the judgment is paid.

The case originated over the rent of an automobile which the plaintiff kept in Lang's garage on Broadway. The machine was taken from the garage but the tools and parts of the machine were left in the garage and Mr. Lang kept them until the plaintiffs paid the rent which he claimed was due, and the plaintiffs immediately started replevin action to recover the tools and parts.

Mr. Brooks Injured.

Frank W. Brooks of the law firm of Rose & Brooks is suffering from an accident which he met with while returning home Monday evening.

Mr. Brooks was caught in the heavy shower which came up late in the afternoon and after alighting from a Colonial car at Washington avenue and Warren street ran through the rain toward his home, on the latter street. He had nearly reached his home when he slipped and fell, tearing the ligaments loose from his right ankle. He is able to attend to his work but will be compelled to walk with crutches for some time.

Repentance.

If our past actions reproach us, they cannot be atoned for by our own severe reflections so effectually as by a contrary behavior.—Steele.

DRUM COP FIRES AT AMBASSADOR

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, June 17.—While Count Vostreff, the German ambassador on his way to the University today to receive an honor, a shot was fired at his auto by a policeman who was evidently excited.

The shot was not hit and the incident closed by profuse apologies from the mayor of the city.

HE WOULDN'T TANGO.

So Youthful Bride Forsakes Him and Mediation Has Begun.

Just because hubbie wouldn't do the tango or the bunny hug his seventeen year old bride has forsaken him and Recorder Grogan has been cast to fill the role of A. B. C. mediator and bring the once happy couple together again.

The bride is a very charming and winsome young lady and the groom is but slightly older. They have been married but a short time and hubbie has been working hard he says to prepare a nice home for his bride.

Wife, however, did not care to stay at home evenings and intimated that she would like hubbie to take her to those tango halls where they could dance and din. Hubbie does not care for dancing and wife left home. It is expected that the couple will again be reunited and sail together on life's ocean. They reside in the lower section of the city.

WOMEN'S CLUBS FOR PROHIBITION

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, June 17.—The General Federation of Women's Clubs went "dry" today.

In a resolution presented by the resolution committee and backed by the second of Kentucky, the Federation convention put itself on record as follows:

"Whereas, the liquor traffic is responsible for three-fourths of the crime, vice and misery in this country,

"Be it resolved, that the women of the General Federation place themselves on record as opposed to the liquor traffic and in favor of such federal and state laws as will tend to eradicate this evil."

There was no temporizing with the liquor question. Even as it was read, a storm of applause broke from the convention. The delegation from Kentucky, popularly known as the "nesting place of distillers," arose to its feet at the chairman's call for a second. Other states clamored for recognition. Kentucky won.

At the request for the vote, a volley of "Ayes" reverberated to the platform. Not a dissenting vote was heard.

After the liquor resolution had been passed there was more applause. Singing broke out in three parts of the house at once and thus the women drew their convention to an end.

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, June 17.—Church services were largely attended on Sunday at the usual hour 3 o'clock. Three new members were added to the church.

Appropriate remarks were made by the pastor, R. Braunstein.

Miss Ella Wyncoop of Tongore spent the week end with her uncle, John Beesmer and family.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Palen spent Sunday with Jesse Shurtler and wife and attended church in the afternoon.

The Rev. R. Braunstein called on members of his congregation on Thursday, among them being some who are not able to attend church.

Mrs. W. G. Moore returned on Friday from a stay of a few days in Kingston.

The church people are preparing for a festival on July 4, afternoon and evening. Meals will be served in the hall. There will be ice cream and refreshments in plenty. A general invitation is extended to all to come and enjoy the Fourth at Samsonville.

Decision For Defendant.

Edward Reis and Morris Basch recently brought an action in replevin against Richard F. Lang which was tried in city court before Judge O'Reilly by Newton Fessenden for plaintiffs and Andrew Lang for defendant. The court has just handed down a decision in favor of defendant for $15 and possession of the chattels until the judgment is paid.

The case originated over the rent of an automobile which the plaintiff's kept in Lang's garage on Broadway. The machine was taken from the garage but the tools and parts of the machine were left in the garage and Mr. Lang kept them until the plaintiffs paid the rent which he claimed was due, and the plaintiffs immediately started replevin action to recover the tools and parts.

Mr. Brooks Injured.

Frank W. Brooks of the law firm of Rose & Brooks is suffering from an accident which he met with while returning home Monday evening. Mr. Brooks was caught in the heavy shower which came up late in the afternoon and after alighting from a Colonial car at Washington avenue and Warren street ran through the rain toward his home on the latter street. He had nearly reached his home when he slipped and fell, tearing the ligaments loose from his right ankle. He is able to attend to his work but will be compelled to walk with crutches for some time.

Repentance.

If our past actions reproach us, they cannot be atoned for by our own severe reflections so effectually as by a contrary behavior.—Steele.

So Youthful Bride Forsakes Him and Mediation Has Begun.

Just because hubbie wouldn't do the tango or the bunny hug his seventeen year old bride has forsaken him and Recorder Grogan has been cast to fill the role of A. B. C. mediator and bring the once happy couple together again.

The bride is a very charming and winsome young lady and the groom is but slightly older. They have been married but a short time and hubbie has been working hard he says to prepare a nice home for his bride.

Wife, however, did not care to stay at home evenings and intimated that she would like hubbie to take her to those tango halls where they could dance and dip. Hubbie does not care for dancing and wife left home. It is expected that the couple will again be reunited and sail together on life's ocean. They reside in the lower section of the city.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 17, 1914.

The Black Hand and other similar societies, being composed of mere men, are having their exploits eclipsed by the British suffragettes. According to the correspondent of the New York Tribune, the militants have an "immune list" composed of the names of persons who have subscribed $5,000 or more to their funds. Even members of the royal families have been blackmailed in this way, and the mystery of how the Pankhurst gang collects funds is explained. It seems incredible that any sane person should favor giving the ballot to such criminals, and it is quite certain that the day is very distant when such a horrible political blunder will be made.

According to the trade journal, Fibre and Fabric, the imports of English fabrics into this country has increased 150 per cent, "due entirely to lowering the tariff bars, and rather than benefiting the consumer, it is just the reverse, as sharp traders taking advantage of the unexplained craze for imported goods, have marked up prices even higher than was the case on similar fabrics before the tariff went into effect." We have mills and workmen enough in this country to manufacture all the fabrics we require, and it is obvious, therefore, that every piece imported to that extent reduces the demand for American labor. It is pretty poor policy that throws men out of work and yet injures the consumer. According to President Wilson, effects like this are purely "psychological," which is a great comfort.

There is now another in the long series of scandals regarding the abuse of the franking privilege. Promoters of a gold mine of not very edifying reputation have been using the stationery of United States Senators and thus sending out a large quantity of advertising matter without any expense for postage. Eventually, public sentiment will become so vehement against these outrages that the franking system will be abolished. Government officers will pay their postage like other people and their salaries will be adjusted accordingly. Free postage is no more necessary to a Federal than to a State officer. The Postoffice Department would not have to report so many deficits if it received pay for all the mail it handles. Doubtless we could have one-cent letter postage if there were no deadheads.

The address made by Mr. William McComb before the directors of the Chamber of Commerce of this city last night constituted a strong argument in favor of combination of efforts for municipal betterment. While interlocking directorates may be a bad thing in "big business," they are very desirable among the workers for a city's welfare. We have now a Chamber of Commerce, a Municipal League, a Charter Commission, a Women's Federation, a Playground Association and we do not know what else. The efficiency of all is more or less impaired by failure to get all the people interested and by the ignorance of each body of what the others are doing. Under the plan which has worked out so successfully in New Rochelle, all good citizens pull the same way instead of working at cross-purposes. Instead of separate organizations, there is one big organization divided into groups having representation in the directorate. In no other way can so many citizens of different ideas be kept interested in their specialty without at the same time weakening the general forward movement.

We have known right along, just the same as everybody else, that our country was going to the dogs, but we were unconscious of its nearness to the goal until we read the speech which Judge Parker made to the graduating class of Yale Law School Monday. "Something is radically wrong in the mental processes of the electorate," he said, "or else patriotism is at its last gasp, when with hardly a whisper of protest, a retired Chief Executive may brag to representatives of the people of his treasonable scheme to intrude upon the fundamental law by establishing a military receivership over coal mines pending a strike, admitting, without a suspicion of decent shame, that he had well considered that his offense might be impeachable if committed." Now, the explanation of all this is that Judge Parker, having had the misfortune to run for office against "Teddy," takes him more seriously than the rest of us do. Maybe patriotism is not at its last gasp, but that the electorate, knowing that the Colonel will never again hold a great office, laughs good-humoredly at his vapors. There is no use in getting "all het up" because a back-number politician tells us that he once seriously considered making an ass of himself.

"MAKE HIM STRENUOUS"

(By Our Woman Editor.)

When the intrepid Antarctic explorer, Captain Scott, was sitting in the very shadow of death he gallantly pushed all thoughts of himself aside and left the message to his wife that impressed us all very much in the reading.

As for me, the thought has always been supreme that just searching about in those frozen lands away from the world he almost threw away his magnificent courage that might better have been lavished upon bigger things—bigger, they seem to me. But the manner of man that he was makes his message the more impressive, and when he wrote of the little chap back in England, the wee lad he never had seen and never would see, "Make him a strenuous man," he had learned that strenuousness might prove costly.

And when he urged, "Guard him against indolence," it was with the right of a man who might have been luxuriating in safety at home had he followed the easy creed.

Strenuous himself, he was caught in the full tide of manhood; and far away from indolence, he dropped out of the running by very reason of his indomitable zeal. And yet, for his boy, he courted the self-same qualities that had led him on to his doom. Perhaps as he sat there looking himself well in the face and thinking ahead to the boy passed on into manhood, he preferred, if he must choose between the two, to have the lad fall because of his strenuous pursuits, his zeal, his pluck and all that, rather than develop into a man of small initiative and with a soul that would shrink from the harder responsibilities and the dangers that life would be certain to bring.

He did not, but he might have pointed to himself as the "gentleman in the midst of her sad memories of him to recall the proud fact that he to the end, but that was self-evident.

Strange, that the letter should have flashed to mind, with its insistent urge for strenuousness and zest, after hearing the story of a young lad launched into manhood under training exactly the opposite. Not strange, either, because the pity of it is very impressive.

His is the all too familiar story of a boy spared all the little responsibilities, the little tasks and one thing and another that tend to develop initiative and characteristics of that kind, then plunged into life itself without the slightest preparation. Money, education—no lack at all. And strenuousness enough in ways of pleasure, zeal sufficient until it comes to a question of serious work, of the kind that involves steady application, and the initiative to work out his own salvation.

All his young life long he has been indolent, not because he was born that way, but because others stood ready to do his bidding; and nobody counted it important to tell him that many men, men of whom the world has mighty need, are trained to and want to get into the very heart of things. He does not know how to accept responsibilities, and it is not his fault; for it is expecting rather much to carry a boy along without any notion that a task has any meaning back of the labor itself and then, all of a sudden, to plunge him into real life and tell him to "make good."

It is not fair to the boy or to the man he grows into, because it needs more than a background of education, more than mere money to make a man win when he is "up against" out-and-out strenuousness and initiative born of the right kind of training.

And the pity of it is, he is expected to win. Educated, given all the money that he needs—why shouldn't he win? But the fact is, he has not been given a chance at the realities.

"Make him a strenuous man"—"Guard him against indolence"—That is not an easy order for any parent to fill, because it is very tempting to lift every small burden from young shoulders, every responsibility from young minds; and perhaps, most important, to permit all of their zeal to run to pleasure and to let them be as indolent as they like in the springtime of life.

Tempting, but if strenuousness inevitably is back of the men who win—and it is—when shall they begin to acquire it, if not in their earlier years? And indolence, once acquired, is very hard to lose.

The insistent urge from a man like Captain Scott, who passed from

ing had the misfortune to run for office against "Teddy," takes him more seriously than the rest of us do. Maybe patriotism is not at its last gasp, but that the electorate, knowing that the Colonel will never again hold a great office, laughs good-humoredly at his vapors.

FRANCES SHAFFER.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

He—"Have I a rival?" She (coldly)—"No. I cannot think of another person I regard with such indifference."—Boston Transcript.

"I know a man who had a hundred curtain calls in a week." "I suppose he was a matinee idol." "No, he was a house furnisher."—Baltimore American.

"No use tryin' to dance your troubles down," says a Georgia philosopher. "We tried it once, and when the fiddler passed his hat for pay he left us dead broke!"—Atlanta Constitution.

"Are you going to Europe soon?" asked one New York girl. "No," replied the other. "Now that pa is out of local politics and high finance, I don't think we'll have to go to Europe so often."—Washington Star.

Willis—"I am organizing a regiment for service in this war that will make them all sit up and take notice." Gillis—"Good men, eh?" Willis—"Regular blood curdlers. It's been composed entirely of men who have been stung on Mexican mining schemes."—Puck.

Tommy arrived home one day with a nice new golf ball. "Look at the lost ball I found on the links," he said. "But are you sure, Tommy," asked his father, "that it was a lost ball?" "Oh, yes," said the boy. "I saw the man and his cadgie looking for it."—Boston Transcript.

"Why it is that the strawberries at the bottom of your boxes are always so much smaller than those at the top?" asked Mrs. Newlywed. "Ah, madame," said the grocer, "you don't put it quite correctly. You should ask why the berries at the top of the boxes are so much larger than those at the bottom."—Judge.

The Middle Course.

Senator Root, at a reception, was discussing the Mexican situation. "Steer a middle course," he said to an extremist. "These extreme ideas are always wrong." "Thus, at a tea, one young girl asked another: 'And where are you going this summer, dear?' 'From the way mother talks,' was the reply, 'you'd think we were going to Newport. From the way father talks you'd think we were going to starve. But I suppose we'll be with us after a long illness.'"

The Soul Saying Time Limit.

One day a visiting clergyman who was to preach before the students at Yale University asked how long he was expected to talk. "Of course, we put no limit upon you," replied the president, "but we have a feeling here at Yale—that no souls are saved after the first 20 minutes."—World's Work.

Spoke Right Out.

The man with the nerve and the "pep" to ravish away from Uncle Joe Cannon his time-honored seat in the House of Representatives—a feat of daring accomplished in the political cyclone of 1912 by Frank T. O'Hair—isn't the kind to sit modestly silent in the court room when the judge isn't giving him a square deal.

In such a happy situation Representative O'Hair once found himself while trying a case in Chicago. The city judge, thinking the young attorney a hayseed from the back blocks, treated him with scant consideration. On reaching the point where patience was no longer virtuous—which isn't very far from the kick-off—young O'Hair stopped upon the judge, said:

"Your honor, you think I'm a rube, a hayseed, but you're mistaken. I'm no rube. Down in the part of the country I come from they think I'm just about the best lawyer in that neck of the woods. I'm of the same opinion, and, if you'll simply give me a fair show, it won't be long before you'll agree with us!"

The court gasped, wavering an instant on the verge of a commitment for contempt. But a second glance into the face of the young lawyer showed him there was no trifling there. Throughout the rest of the trial young O'Hair got attention—and his client a verdict at the close.—Washington Star.

A Blessing.

Walter Damrosch, the musician, has a horror of the crude musical amateur.

At a luncheon in New York Mr. Damrosch said politely to an old lady:

"Your daughter doesn't sing any more?" "No," said the old lady. "Since the birth of her two little girls Mary has been so occupied that she's had to give up her singing." Mr. Damrosch sighed. "After all," he said, "children are a great blessing, aren't they?"—New York Tribune.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 17, 1914.

The Black Hand and other similar societies, being composed of more men, are having their exploits eclipsed by the British suffragettes. According to the correspondent of the New York Tribune, the militants have an "immune list" composed of the names of persons who have subscribed $5,000 or more to their funds. Even members of the royal families have been blackmailed in this way, and the mystery of how the Pankhurst gang collects funds is explained. It seems incredible that any sane person should favor giving the ballot to such criminals, and it is quite certain that the day is very distant when such a horrible political blunder will be made.

According to the trade journal, Fibre and Fabric, the imports of English fabrics into this country has increased 150 per cent, "due entirely to lowering the tariff bars, and rather than benefiting the consumer, it is just the reverse, as sharp traders taking advantage of the unexplained craze for imported goods, have marked up prices even higher than was the case on similar fabrics before the tariff went into effect." We have mills and workmen enough in this country to manufacture all the fabrics we require, and it is obvious, therefore, that every piece imported to that extent reduces the demand for American labor. It is pretty poor policy that throws men out of work and yet injures the consumer. According to President Wilson, effects like this are purely "psychological," which is a great comfort.

There is now another in the long series of scandals regarding the abuse of the franking privilege. Promoters of a gold mine of not very edifying reputation have been using the stationery of United States Senators and thus sending out a large quantity of advertising matter without any expense for postage. Eventually, public sentiment will become so vehement against these outrages that the franking system will be abolished. Government officers will pay their postage like other people and their salaries will be adjusted accordingly. Free postage is no more necessary to a Federal than to a State officer. The Postoffice Department would not have to report so many deficits if it received pay for all the mail it handles. Doubtless we could have one-cent letter postage if there were no deadheads.

The address made by Mr. William McComb before the directors of the Chamber of Commerce of this city last night constituted a strong argument in favor of combination of efforts for municipal betterment. While interlocking directorates may be a bad thing in "big business," they are very desirable among the workers for a city's welfare. We have now a Chamber of Commerce, a Municipal League, a Charter Commission, a Women's Federation, a Playground Association and we do not know what else. The efficiency of all is more or less impaired by failure to get all the people interested and by the ignorance of each body of what the others are doing. Under the plan which has worked out so successfully in New Rochelle, all good citizens pull the same way instead of working at cross-purposes. Instead of separate organizations, there is one big organization divided into groups having representation in the directorate. In no other way can so many citizens of different ideas be kept interested in their specialty without at the same time weakening the general forward movement.

We have known right along, just the same as everybody else, that our country was going to the dogs, but we were unconscious of its nearness to the goal until we read the speech which Judge Parker made to the graduating class of Yale Law School Monday. "Something is radically wrong in the mental processes of the electorate," he said, "or else patriotism is at its last gasp, when with hardly a whisper of protest, a retired Chief Executive may brag to representatives of the people of his treasonable scheme to intrude upon State rights and violate otherwise the fundamental law by establishing a military receivership over coal mines pending a strike, admitting, without a suspicion of decent shame, that he had well considered that his offense might be impeachable if committed." Now, the explanation of all this is that Judge Parker, having had the misfortune to run for office against "Teddy," takes him more seriously than the rest of us do. Maybe patriotism is not at its last gasp, but that the electorate, knowing that the Colonel will never again hold a great office, laughs good-humoredly at his vapors. There is no use in getting "all het up" because a back-number politician tells us that he once seriously considered making an ass of himself.

"MAKE HIM STRENUOUS"

(By Our Woman Editor.)

When the intrepid Antarctic explorer, Captain Scott, was sitting in the very shadow of death he gallantly pushed all thoughts of himself aside and left the message to his wife that impressed us all very much in the reading.

As for me, the thought has always been supreme that just searching about in those frozen lands away from the world he almost threw away his magnificent courage that might better have been lavished upon bigger things—bigger, they seem to me. But the manner of man that he was makes his message the more impressive, and when he wrote of the little chap back in England, the wee lad he never had seen and never would see, "Make him a strenuous man," he had learned that strenuousness might prove costly.

And when he urged, "Guard him against indolence," it was with the right of a man who might have been luxuriating in safety at home had he followed the easy creed.

Strenuous himself, he was caught in the full tide of manhood; and far away from indolence, he dropped out of the running by very reason of his indomitable zeal. And yet, for his boy, he courted the self-same qualities that had led him on to his doom. Perhaps as he sat there looking himself well in the face and thinking ahead to the boy passed on into manhood, he preferred, if he must choose between the two, to have the lad fall because of his strenuous pursuits, his zeal, his pluck and all that, rather than develop into a man of small initiative and with a soul that would shrink from the harder responsibilities and the dangers that life would be certain to bring.

He did not, but he might have pointed to himself as the "gentleman unafraid" and have asked the wife in the midst of her sad memories of him to recall the proud fact that he remained "captain of his soul" down to the end. But that was self-evident.

Strange, that the letter should have flashed to mind, with its insistent urge for strenuousness and zest, after hearing the story of a young lad launched into manhood under training exactly the opposite. Not strange, either, because the pity of it is very impressive.

His is the all too familiar story of a boy spared all the little responsibilities, the little tasks and one thing and another that tend to develop initiative and characteristics of that kind, then plunged into life itself without the slightest preparation. Money, education—no lack at all. And strenuousness enough in ways of pleasure, zeal sufficient until it comes to a question of serious work, of the kind that involves steady application, and the initiative to work out his own salvation. All his young life long he has been indolent, not because he was born that way, but because others stood ready to do his bidding; and nobody counted it important to tell him that many men, men of whom the world has mighty need, are trained to and want to get into the very heart of things. He does not know how to accept responsibilities, and it is not his fault; for it is expecting rather much to carry a boy along without any notion that a task has any meaning back of the labor itself and then, all of a sudden, to plunge him into real life and tell him to "make good."

It is not fair to the boy or to the man he grows into, because it needs more than a background of education, more than mere money to make a man win when he is "up against" out-and-out strenuousness and initiative born of the right kind of training.

And the pity of it is, he is expected to win. Educated, given all the money that he needs—why shouldn't he win? But the fact is, he has not been given a chance at the realities.

"Make him a strenuous man!" "Guard him against indolence!" That is not an easy order for any parent to fill, because it is very tempting to lift every small burden from young shoulders, every responsibility from young minds; and perhaps, most important, to permit all of their zeal to run to pleasure and to let them be as indolent as they like in the springtime of life.

Tempting, but if strenuousness inevitably is back of the men who win—and it is—when shall they begin to acquire it, if not in their earlier years? And indolence, once acquired, is very hard to lose.

The insistent urge from a man like Captain Scott, who passed from strenuousness straight on to his doom, ought to carry deep meaning to young men in the making, in the way of impressing them that they must work if they would win, and be not afraid.

Tommy arrived home one day with a nice new golf ball. "Look at the lost ball I found on the links, pa," he said. "But are you sure, Tommy," asked his father, "that it was a lost ball?" "Oh, yes," said the boy. "I saw the man and his caddy looking for it."—Boston Transcript.

"Why it is that the strawberries at the bottom of your boxes are always so much smaller than those at the top?" asked Mrs. Newlywed. "Ah, madame," said the grocer, "you don't put it quite correctly. You should ask why the berries at the top of the boxes are so much larger than those at the bottom."—Judge.

The Middle Course.

Senator Root, at a reception, was discussing the Mexican situation. "Steer a middle course," he said to an extremist. "These extreme ideas are always wrong." "Thus, at a tea, one young girl asked another: "And where are you going this summer, dear?"

"From the way mother talks," was the reply, "you'd think we were going to Newport. From the way father talks you'd think we were going to starve. But I suppose we'll steer a middle course as usual, and put in a fortnight at a $12 Atlantic City boarding house."—New York World.

The Soul Saying Time Limit.

One day a visiting clergyman who was to preach before the students at Yale University asked how long he was expected to talk. "Of course, we put no limit upon you," replied Dean Eliot, "but we have a feeling here at Yale—that no souls—are saved after the first 20 minutes."—World's Work.

Spoke Right Out.

The man with the nerve and the "pep" to ravish away from Uncle Joe Cannon his time-honored seat in the House of Representatives—a feat of daring accomplished in the political cyclone of 1912 by Frank T. O'Hair—isn't the kind to sit modestly silent in the court room when the judge isn't giving him a square deal.

In such a happy situation Representative O'Hair once found himself while trying a case in Chicago. The city judge, thinking the young attorney a hayseed from the back blocks, treated him with scant consideration. On reaching the point where patience was no longer virtuous—which isn't very far from the kick-off—young O'Hair stopped short in the trial and, frowning upon the judge, said:

"Your honor, you think I'm a rube, a hayseed; but you're mistaken. I'm no rube. Down in the part of the country I come from they think I'm just about the best lawyer in that neck of the woods. I'm of the same opinion, and, if you'll simply give me a fair show, it won't be long before you'll agree with us!"

The court gasped, wavering an instant on the verge of a commitment for contempt. But a second glance into the face of the young lawyer showed him there was no trifling there. Throughout the rest of the trial young O'Hair got attention—and his client a verdict at the close.—Washington Star.

A Blessing.

Walter Damrosch, the musician, has a horror of the crude musical amateur.

At a luncheon in New York Mr. Damrosch said politely to an old lady:

"Your daughter doesn't sing any more?"

"No," said the old lady. "Since the birth of her two little girls Mary has been so occupied that she's had to give up her singing."

Mr. Damrosch sighed.

"After all," he said, "children are a great blessing, aren't they?"—New York Tribune.

The Methodist Sunday school teachers held a business meeting lately, and it was a good one. They met to elect the superintendent and assistant for the school. They elected Fred L. Metcalf as their superintendent and E. F. Cummings as the assistant. This was satisfactory to all, for it requires people interested in the work to make a success out of it, and with these prominent men as leaders and the fine corps of workers, nothing will be left undone.

Next Sunday morning, June 21, the Rev. G. H. Scofield of the Presbyterian Church, will preach the baccalaureate sermon to the high school graduating class. We presume this will draw a good audience.

Miss Anna Hopper entertained her friend, Mr. Schumacher, over Sunday at her home on Vineyard avenue.

Several members of the order of Daughters of America visited the council in Poughkeepsie on Monday evening last. They had a grand time. Their work was impressive and instructive and by visiting other councils a great deal of knowledge may be obtained. This order seems to be growing in interest and numbers and expects to be a flourishing organization of this place. They have good attendance at their meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller will spend some time in Kingston next week, for the exercises of high school there. Miss Bessie Keller, a niece of Mrs. Miller, is to be one of the graduates. Several from this place have received invitations for the commencement exercises.

Boat crews are just having sport overboard. They sing and after meals have some running and they do not have much time to rest. They practice on the river every day and many go down and witness the rowing. There are a goodly number of the boys in town.

The Eastern Star chapter here met Monday evening, only a few out. Draping the altar was gone through for two members and they closed work for the summer. They will open the last meeting in September, perhaps with renewed zeal and spirit for the work.

The sidewalk to the cemetery has at last been started, a much needed thing through different parts of our village. Perhaps later on the place may be beautified by having good walks where they are needed, for it certainly would be a great improvement to our little place to have it as attractive as possible. But you know good things come slow. Same with the state road, but we are to have it in time, we hope.

Cleanliness Kills Flies.

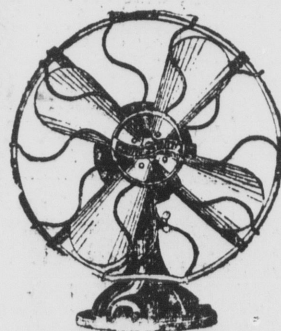

HOW do flies live through the winter? A few lazy, logy flies can be found half dead, but still living, around chimneys and warm places in the house or stable. They will come to life just as soon as the boys begin playing marbles.

If no garbage or filth were to be found the female flies would die and the stock might be lost.

We must keep things clean to keep flies from breeding. When they have come we can catch them with fly paper or fly traps or kill them with fly poison. We can keep them out of the house by keeping the windows and doors screened.

They crawl into the sugar, the milk and the bread. They have just been crawling into other places. They get typhoid germs and give you typhoid. They get consumption and spread it.

Manufacturers Who Help the Other Fellow

"The wise manufacturer realizes that whatever helps the retailer helps himself"—says a business writer.

That sentence hits the advertising nail squarely on the head.

When a manufacturer advertises his goods in a local newspaper he is not only helping every dealer who has his goods, but he is inviting others to "stock up."

The turn over on the dealers' shelves means renewed orders for the manufacturer.

Manufacturers interested in enlarging their market are invited to address the Bureau of Advertising American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

Every prisoner confined in the state prisons, reformatories and penitentiaries, who shall become entitled to a diminution of his term of sentence by good conduct, may, in the discretion of the agent and warden, or of the superintendent of the reformatory, or superintendent of the penitentiary, receive compensation from the earnings of the prison or reformatory or penitentiary in which he is confined, such compensation to be graded by the agent and warden of the prison for the prisoners therein, and the superintendent of the reformatory or penitentiary for the prisoners therein, for the time such prisoner may work, but in no case shall the compensation allowed to such convict exceed in amount ten per centum of the earnings of the prison or reformatory or penitentiary in which they are confined. HIGHLAND.

Highland, June 17.—The water company has put out notices for the residents not to use water for sprinkling lawns or for use on streets, flower beds, and so forth. It is hoped we may get rain soon, for it is certainly much needed and people living along the streets suffer from the great clouds of dust.

Porter Lacey is at home now. He was one of the graduates last week at Union College.

Mrs. G. H. Brown has returned from a visit in New York city with her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Leonard. Charles Francis is home for the summer. He graduated last week from Syracuse University. He is at present with the boat crew at the Whittier House, all Syracuse boys.

Saturday afternoon a merry lot of young people gave Gordon Kurtz a surprise. About 30 were present, and one of the most enjoyable afternoons of pleasure for little folks was witnessed. They entered into the sports and games with great interest. After their sports they were all seated and just enjoyed a fine supper. Last of all, they had ice cream and cake and candy. When they left they wished Gordon would have a birthday often, they had such a good time.

She will be greatly missed in her home and among the Vineyard avenue people, where she always helped in church work at the chapel. The Rev. G. H. Scofield, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, preached a fine sermon. Floral tributes were many and beautiful. LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

AN ACT to amend the prison law, in relation to the earnings of prisoners.

Became a law April 7, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section one hundred and eighty-five of chapter forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to prisons, constituting chapter forty-three of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 185. Earnings of prisoners. Every prisoner confined in the state prisons, reformatories and penitentiaries, who shall become entitled to a diminution of his term of sentence by good conduct, may, in the discretion of the agent and warden, or of the superintendent of the reformatory, or superintendent of the penitentiary, receive compensation from the earnings of the prison or reformatory or penitentiary in which he is confined, such compensation to be graded by the agent and warden of the prison for the prisoners therein, and the superintendent of the reformatory or penitentiary for the prisoners therein, for the time such prisoner may work, but in no case shall the compensation allowed to such convicts exceed in amount ten per centum of the earnings of the prison or reformatory or penitentiary in which they are confined. The difference in the rate of compensation shall be based both on the pecuniary value of the work performed, and also on the willingness, industry and good conduct of such prisoner; provided, that whenever any prisoner shall forfeit his good time for misconduct or violation of the rules or regulations of the prison, reformatory or penitentiary, he shall forfeit out of the compensation allowed under this section such an amount as may be determined by the agent and warden, the superintendent of the reformatory, or the superintendent of the penitentiary, not to exceed fifty cents for each day of good time so forfeited; and provided, that prisoners serving life sentences shall be entitled to the benefit of this section when their conduct is such as would entitle other prisoners to a diminution of sentence, subject to forfeiture of good time for misconduct as herein provided. The agent and warden of each prison, or the superintendent of the reformatory or the superintendent of the penitentiary may institute and maintain a uniform system of fines, to be imposed at his discretion, in place of his other penalties and punishments, to be deducted from such compensation standing to the credit of any prisoner, for misconduct by such prisoner.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

State of New York, Office of the Secretary of State.

I have compared the preceding with the original law on file in this office, and do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom and of the whole of said original law.

NEW SHIRT FACTORY FOR KINGSTON

Fessenden Shirt Company Leases Incubator Plant—Auto Truck Concern Negotiating for Vaughan Plant on Grand Street.

Kingston's new shirt factory, the Fessenden Shirt Company, in which local capital is interested, has leased the top floor of the incubator plant on Cornell street of the Kingston Factory Corporation and it is expected will start up August 1. This fact was brought out at the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce held at the city hall on Tuesday evening. It was also announced by the industrial committee at the meeting that an auto concern who manufacture a low priced auto truck is negotiating to take over the Vaughan automobile plant on Grand street. Those present at the meeting were President Bernstein, Secretary Hoehn and Directors Klook, Davis, Burgevin, Kearney, Stelle, Stock, Dwyer, Mahar, Elmhurst, Barmann, Mayor Canfield and City Engineer Codwise came in later to hear the address of William McComb.

A number of communications were read and either filed or referred to the proper committees. One from the New York state committee asking for photographs of points of historical interest about Kingston, to be used in a stereopticon in the New York state building at the Panama exposition at San Francisco in 1915, was referred to the secretary to secure the pictures and forward them as requested.

A communication from Superintendent TeBow of the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company, placing Kingston Point Park at the disposal of the Grangers for holding a picnic this summer, was referred to Herbert Carl of the Granger committee, to take up with the Ulster County Grange.

A communication from the Knights of Columbus, asking co-operation in the celebration of the safe and sane Fourth, was received and the invitation accepted.

To Oil Railroad Avenue.
Secretary Hoehn read a petition that had been addressed to the Chamber of Commerce from the residents on Railroad avenue, asking the co-operation of the body in getting the street oiled. Owing to a city ordinance the petition for oiling in order to become a tax levy upon property needs a majority of signers. This was impossible unless the West Shore railroad became a signer. The question had been taken up with the railroad by Mr. Hoehn and he reported progress had been made and he expected that the petition would be signed by the railroad company later in the week. In the meantime the matter had been taken up with Mayor Canfield and the work of oiling the street will be started as soon as possible.

An Efficiency Address.

William McComb of the Civic Engineers' Association of New York city, delivered a fine and instructive address on commercial organization work and of what the concern he represented was doing for New Rochelle. In opening his address, he said that a city is an aggregation of families dwelling in a common place and its purpose is the carrying out of the functions of life and the civilization of the time being. He said that life analyzed resolves itself into five normalities: Health, education, employment, recreation and development. "The reason you live in Kingston," said Mr. McComb, "is because you can enjoy one or more of those five things better in Kingston than anywhere else." He then went on to impress the fact that a city was simply a factory and the work should be taken up intelligently in order to produce the most results from the factory. We should never forget the five normalities and the means by which they were attained as the work of a Chamber of Commerce. There are four things that represent in a crude way a community or city, all equally essential: The residential or home idea, the mercantile or trading idea, the industrial or productive idea and the government or civic idea.

The great thing to find out when a new member joins the association is to ascertain what work he would like to do and then try and place him at work along the lines he desired to take up. In the New Rochelle movement the Chamber of Commerce had been divided into three departments, the mercantile, civic and development. Every man we ask to join that organization, we ask what particular thing he wanted his fellow citizen to do for him in his business, or the community to do for him as a community, and then what he was willing to do. When we found out what each man would like, we placed him in one of the three departments.

Under the head of the civic department comes first the survey of the city to find out what the city has to offer in the line of theatres and places of recreation and entertainment, the housing conditions, the transportation facilities and educational advantages. Is your street railway helping you to solve your building problems by running lines into territory where it is most logical for the city to extend. The civic department was probably the most important and there were numerous problems that it could solve.

Under the head of the mercantile department, came advertising campaigns, special sales weeks, credit ratings reports and other important subjects.

Mr. McComb had a large number of charts that he hung up in the room and which added force to his talk. At the conclusion of his address he said he was willing to answer questions and the remainder of the meeting was devoted to asking and answering questions. Mr. McComb said that there were three things that should be borne in mind when writing a city charter, and they were that "prohibition, woman's suffrage and politics which will wreck any civic organization if allowed to creep in."

Boston, June 17.—Johnny Dundee, the New York lightweight, had an easy time winning from Johnny Gallant of Chelsea, the towel being thrown in the ring at the end of the eighth round by Gallant's manager. Avoid the Dealer Who Ties to Sell You "Something Just as Good"

WHEN you ask for any article in a store, whether it is for soap, perfume, household medicine, paint, varnish, hardware, food products, chewing gum, corsets or automobile tires, etc., and the dealer says: "Yes, we have it, but here is something better," be on your guard; his special interest in the so-called "better" article is MORE PROFIT.

PATRONIZE dealers who give you what you ask for. Articles advertised in this paper are always meritorious.

HEREAFTER say: I want such and such an article, and insist on getting it. Do not say: "Have you such and such an article?" The more you emphasize "I want" this or that you are helping to undermine the worst fraud in merchandising ever foisted upon the consumer.

BE careful to insist that you get what you ask for; a good plan would be to avoid substituting dealers.

WHEN you ask for a certain article, make sure you get it. Remember only meritorious articles are imitated, which is a double reason why you should insist on the original.

Dundee Wins From Gallant.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, June 17.—Johnny Dundee, the New York lightweight, had an easy time winning from Johnny Gallant of Chelsea, the towel being thrown in the ring at the end of the eighth round by Gallant's manager. Dundee was too fast and clever for the Chelsea lad, who has lost all the form he displayed when he was a crack amateur.

Rear Admiral Frank Friday Fletcher

Washington, June 17.—Rear Admiral Frank Friday Fletcher is slated for the command of the entire Atlantic fleet of the United States navy, following the official commendation of his conduct during the taking of Vera Cruz in April. He will succeed Rear Admiral Charles S. Badger, who will soon end his fixed tour as first officer of the navy on sea duty. The commander-in-chief of the American navy is ranked only by Admiral Dewey, and Rear Admiral Fletcher's promotion is intended to be a direct recognition of his work.

Avoid the Dealer Who Tries to Sell You "Something Just as Good"

WHEN you ask for any article in a store, whether it is for soap, perfume, household medicine, paint, varnish, hardware, food products, chewing gum, corsets or automobile tires, etc., and the dealer says: "Yes, we have it, but here is something better," be on your guard; his special interest in the so-called "better" article is MORE PROFIT.

THIS dealer is trying to change your mind. WHY? Because he loves you? No! Emphatically no! But because he is going to try to dispose of an inferior article, and he is trying to get rid of some unknown, unheard-of junk at your expense.

BE careful to insist that you get what you ask for; a good plan would be to avoid substituting dealers.

WHEN you ask for a certain article, make sure you get it. Remember only meritorious articles are limited, which is a double reason why you should insist on the original.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, June 17.—Anthony Hines, who has been employed in Newburgh, has returned to his home on Stout avenue.

Regular meeting of Esopus Council, No. 42, Daughters of Liberty, this evening at 8 o'clock in Hutton's Hall on Broadway.

Several out of town pupils took the Regents' examinations at Public School No. 13 this week.

Mrs. George Kennoch of Ulster Park was the guest of Mrs. David Parsell on Broadway on Tuesday.

A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Nellie Elsworth at the home of her friend, Mrs. Charles Zimmerman on Salem street Monday evening. There were thirty-two invited guests present, including the Dorcas Society and Ever Ready Club. The evening was very pleasantly spent in music, singing, etc. Dainty refreshments were served. This event was given in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Elsworth to Mr. Bigler, both residents of this village.

Mrs. John Hauck and daughter, Mrs. Harry Dodge, of Kingston, were guests of Mrs. James I. Van Aken and Mrs. Benjamin Wells on Tuesday.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church are making preparations for their annual strawberry festival, to be held in the chapel Tuesday evening, June 23. Please keep the date in mind. All are most cordially invited.

The Epworth League Society of the Methodist Church will serve ice cream and soda at the parlor of John Lampman on Broadway, Saturday, June 20. This is an opportunity to show your patronage to Mr. Lampman and also help the young ladies of the society mentioned.

Elmer Elsworth has finished decorating the exterior of the house of his father, Marvin Elsworth, on Salem street, and it presents a fine appearance.

Chester Thorpe of Broadway was in Kingston on business on Tuesday.

METTACAHONTS. June 17.—Many from this place attended the installation of our new minister, Rev. Henry Frost, at Rochester Reformed Church on Thursday morning. The church was beautifully decorated. All were glad to see our former pastor, Mr. Fortner, present. A very nice talk was given by him. Sorry Mr. Wightman and Mr. Francisco were unable to be present.

Mrs. Benjamin Quick is assisting in the care of her mother, Mrs. Rider, who is ill at Whitfield.

All are sorry to hear of the serious illness of blood poison of Miss Georgia Divine, at her home at Wawarsing and hope for her speedy recovery.

Jacob Kelder has the finest strawberry patch in this vicinity. A fine stream of water runs near the patch and Mr. Kelder has watered them frequently and in other ways given them the best of care. The result is a fine lot of large, luscious berries, very tempting to the passerby.

Dr. T. O. Keator called on Mrs. Gertrude Osterhout and Eliza Kelder on Monday morning. Mr. Kelder remains about the same.

Mrs. Fred Hendrickson has seen ten snakes around her home during the spring and summer. They are of every description, water snakes, black snakes and one racer. There must certainly be something very enticing for them there.

Mrs. P. Zeamon and Mrs. S. E. Churchwell were out driving one day during the week.

DeWitt Hornbeck of Whitfield visited friends in this place on Friday evening.

Certain parties from this vicinity probably thought something very cute had been accomplished when they had conveyed a wagon belonging to our Hebrew neighbor, Mr. Bonder, about a mile from his home on Friday evening, leaving it standing by the way side. This is the second time his wagons have been bothered. We are of the opinion that if certain persons do not stop doing some stunts which they consider smart, they will be surprised some day by something they are not looking for. There are one or two who seem to have their names mixed into each scrap which happens. Our Hebrew neighbors are very peaceable and should not be troubled by any of the American inhabitants.

Charles Bell and Jacob Kelder as assistant laid up a chimney for Mrs. E. D. Markle on Friday. Mr. Bell does very nice work and all would do well to call on him if they have any chimneys needing repairing. Although as yet an amateur at chimney laying, still his work looks as well as that of some experienced bricklayer.

The boys are planning to attend the show at Kingston on Friday, June 19, with John Vandemark as chauffeur. A fine time is being anticipated.

Floyd Mackey and Charles Bell attended the party at Leibhardt on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Dupuy and daughter, Rissa, called on Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Baker on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rider and family take frequent spins in their new auto.

Mrs. William Wood and daughter, Gladys, visited Mr. and Mrs. John J. Wood on Tuesday.

Mrs. Rachel Anderson and Mrs. Jacob Hornbeck visited Mrs. W. H. Markle on Friday.

SUGGEST CONCRETE ROAD.

Writer This Concrete Best Material Albany Avenue.
Kingston, Y., June 16, 1914.
To the Editor of the Kingston Daily Freeman Kingston, N. Y.:

Dear Sir: The city of Kingston has done such a creditable piece of work in paving Broadway from the ferry to Albany avenue and from the viaduct at the foot of Washington avenue to Broadway, that it would be well to keep the good work and improve the main entrance to the city from the north. This entrance is Albany avenue, one of the most beautiful streets in this or any other city.

The distance from Broadway to the city line on many avenues is about 5,700 feet, the average is about 40 feet wide between curbs. It has been suggested that a concrete pavement be laid 10 feet wide down the middle of the avenue, leaving shoulders 11 feet on each side, these shoulders to be covered with fine crushed stone.

As the city already has its own crusher, some concrete mixer and other road machinery, this pavement could probably be laid for one dollar per square foot which is much less than the cost of brick. It should be laid, however, in the most approved manner and to men who are skilled in this kind of work, say under the specifications of the Wayne County Road Commissioners of Michigan.

Over one hundred miles of concrete roads have been built in Wayne county, Michigan, also in Winsor, Ontario, Illinois and in Kansas City. They are giving the greatest satisfaction to all concerned, both builders and users.

The repairs to concrete roads to date have been less costly than in any other form of construction. Such an improvement would not only be a great credit to the city but an ornament. By all means let us have it.

Yours truly,
S. H. C.

Graduation Time

Graduation is an event worthy of some token of remembrance. Whether it is the grinning youngster passing from the primary to the grammar grades or the more serious-minded college senior, graduation means achievement and work well done. No time is more appropriate for a gift nor could one be surrounded by happier associations.

Our work is well done, too. Long ago we graduated and took our place as jewelers to meet your every want. At this season our stock is particularly rich in the things that are most suitable for commencement gifts.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, June 17.—Anthony Hines, who has been employed in Newburgh, has returned to his home on Stout avenue.

Regular meeting of Esopus Council, No. 42, Daughters of Liberty, this evening at 8 o'clock in Hutton's Hall on Broadway.

Several out of town pupils took the Regents' examinations at Public School No. 13 this week.

Mrs. George Kenock of Ulster Park was the guest of Mrs. David Parrell on Broadway on Tuesday.

A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Nellie Elsworth at the home of her friend, Mrs. Charles Zimmerman on Salem street Monday evening. There were thirty-two invited guests present, including the Dorcas Society and Ever Ready Club. The evening was very pleasantly spent in music, singing, etc. Dainty refreshments were served. This event was given in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Elsworth to Mr. Bigler, both residents of this village.

Mrs. John Hauck and daughter, Mrs. Harry Dodge, of Kingston, were guests of Mrs. James I. Van Aken and Mrs. Benjamin Wells on Tuesday.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church are making preparations for their annual strawberry festival, to be held in the chapel Tuesday evening, June 23. Please keep the date in mind. All are most cordially invited.

The Epworth League Society of the Methodist Church will serve ice cream and soda at the parlor of John Lampman on Broadway, Saturday, June 20. This is an opportunity to show your patronage to Mr. Lampman and also help the young ladies of the society mentioned.

Elmer Elsworth has finished decorating the exterior of the house of his father, Marvin Elsworth, on Salem street, and it presents a fine appearance.

Chester Thorpe of Broadway was in Kingston on business on Tuesday.

METTACAHONTS.

Mettacahonts, June 17.—Many from this place attended the installation of our new minister, Rev. Henry Frost, at Rochester Reformed Church on Thursday morning. The church was beautifully decorated. All were glad to see our former pastor, Mr. Foertner, present. A very nice talk was given by him. Sorry Mr. Wightman and Mr. Francisco were unable to be present.

Mrs. Benjamin Quick is assisting in the care of her mother, Mrs. Rider, who is ill at Whitfield.

All are sorry to hear of the serious illness of blood poison of Miss Georgia Divine, at her home at Wawarsing and hope for her speedy recovery.

Jacob Kelder has the finest strawberry patch in this vicinity. A stream of water runs near the patch and Mr. Kelder has watered them frequently and in other ways given them the best of care. The result is a fine lot of large, luscious berries, very tempting to the passerby.

Dr. T. O. Kester, called on Mrs. Gertrude Osterhoudt and Elias Kelder on Monday morning. Mr. Kelder remains about the same.

Mrs. Fred Hendrickson has seen ten snakes around her home during the spring and summer. They are of every description, water snakes, black snakes and one racer. There must certainly be something very enticing for them there.

Mrs. F. Zeamon and Mrs. S. E. Churchwell were out driving one day during the week.

DeWitt Hornbeck of Whitfield visited friends in this place on Friday evening.

Certain parties from this vicinity probably thought something very cute had been discovered when they had conveyed a wagon belonging to our Hebrew neighbor, Mr. Bonder, about a mile from his home on Friday evening, leaving it standing by the way side. This is the second time his wagons have been bothered. We are of the opinion that if certain persons do not stop doing some stunts which they consider smart, they will be surprised some day by something they are not looking for. There are one or two who seem to have their names mixed into each scrap which happens. Our Hebrew neighbors are very peaceable and should not be troubled by any of the American inhabitants.

Charles Bell and Jacob Kelder as assistant laid up a chimney for Mrs. E. D. Markle on Friday. Mr. Bell does very nice work and all would do well to call on him if they have any chimneys needing repairing. Although as yet an amateur at chimney laying, still his work looks as well as that of some experienced bricklayer.

The boys are planning to attend the show at Kingston on Friday, June 19, with John Vandemark as chauffeur. A fine time is being anticipated.

Floyd Mackey and Charles Bell attended the party at Leibhardt on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Depuy and daughter, Rissa, called on Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Baker on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rider and family take frequent spins in their new auto.

Mrs. William Wood and daughter, Gladys, visited Mr. and Mrs. John J. Wood on Tuesday.

Mrs. Rachel Anderson and Mrs. Jacob Hornbeck visited Mrs. W. H. Markle on Friday.

SUGGEST CONCRETE ROAD.

Writer The Concrete Best Material Albany Avenue.

Kingston, N. Y., June 16, 1914.

To the Editor of the Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y.:

Dear Sir:—The city of Kingston has done a creditable piece of work in paving Broadway from the ferry to Albany avenue and from the viaduct at the foot of Washington avenue to Broadway. That it would be well to keep the good work and improve the main entrance to the city from the north. This entrance is Albany ave., one of the most beautiful streets in this or any other city.

The distance from Broadway to the city line on any avenue is about 5,700 feet, the avenue is about 40 feet wide between curbs. It has been suggested that a concrete pavement be laid 10 feet wide down the middle of the avenue, leaving shoulders 11 feet on each side. These shoulders to be covered with fine crushed stone.

As the city already has its own crusher, a concrete mixer and other road machinery, this pavement could probably be laid for one dollar per square foot which is much less than the cost of brick. It should be laid, however, in the most approved manner and by men who are skilled in this kind of work, say under the specifications of the Wayne County Road Commissioners of Michigan.

Over one hundred miles of concrete roads have been built in Wayne county, Michigan, and in Windsor, Ontario, Illinois and in Kansas City. They are giving the greatest satisfaction to all concerned, both builders and users.

The repairs to concrete roads to date have been less costly than in any other form of construction.

Such an improvement would not only be a great credit to the city but an ornament. By all means let us have it.

Yours truly,

S. H. C.

IMPROVEMENT OF FIRE ALARM SYSTEM

For some time past Superintendent Legg of the fire alarm circuit has had a force of men busy placing the fire alarm system in better condition to withstand the heavy storms which in the past have placed the system out of commission for three days at a stretch. A new cable from the city hall to the central fire station and from the central fire station to Broadway has been placed underground making a complete underground cable connection from the city hall all along Broadway. This arrangement will save considerable wire trouble as in the past the fire alarm wires were placed under the high tension wires of the Kingston Gas & Electric Company which if broken for any reason placed the entire fire alarm circuit out of commission when the high tension wires fell on the fire alarm wires. This occurred last winter and the entire system was out of commission for three days.

On West O'Reilly street a cable has also been run underground to a point near the rear of the new high school site and then the wires are carried over the fields on poles of the telephone company to Peter street, the old fire alarm wires being taken off the high tension line of the electric company.

The central fire station has also been connected with the city hall by a separate circuit. This arrangement has increased the efficiency of the fire alarm circuit for the reason that if one circuit is put out of commission the central fire station is sure to get an alarm from the other three circuits which are run into the fire station.

To afford better fire protection to the business sections of the city a plan is now being contemplated to connect the three paid fire stations, Willet, Cornell and central fire station, with the Broadway underground cable. At the present time the underground cable on Broadway only runs as far as the intersection of Pearl street and would mean that about 1,000 feet would have to be laid from Pearl street to the Willet station. When that is done all of the fire boxes on Broadway could be connected with this underground circuit and no matter how heavy a storm visited Kingston the fire circuit in the business sections from the Strand to the Willet engine house could not be placed out of commission and an alarm rung in from the lower section of the city or the upper section of the city would be rung into all three of the paid stations.

The fire alarm circuit at the present time is in the most efficient condition of its history.

BIG REAL ESTATE SALE.

Broadway, New York, Lots to be Sold at Auction.

On June 23 the last large parcel of Broadway lots in New York city will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder by Joseph P. Day and J. Clarence Davis. The property, which is composed of one hundred and ninety-seven 25x100 foot lots will be disposed of without reserve to the highest bidder. The property is directly on Broadway, the great 75 foot thoroughfare which runs directly from the heart of Manhattan to Yonkers. On the east side of the avenue is Van Cortland Park which adds to the attractiveness and value of the property as a residential as well as business section. The property is graded, curbed, flagged, sewer connections made and the pavement laid and the assessments paid.

The property can be reached by subway to Two Hundred Forty-second street and then by trolley; by the Sixth or Ninth avenue elevator to One Hundred Fifty-fifth street and the Putnam division of the New York Central to Carl Station near the property. In addition there are surface cars which pass the lots.

The growth of New York city north has been rapid in the past few years and real estate values have risen greatly and will continue to increase for years to come.

NEWLYWEDS ESCAPED.

Auto and Motor Boat Saved Them From Shower of Rice.

An automobile chase down Broadway was the climax to the Darling-Crump wedding at the First Dutch Church on Tuesday when the bridal couple were pursued by relatives and friends in an effort to shower them with rice and confetti. Mr. Darling before the ceremony had been wise enough to hire not only a taxi but also Perrine's motor boat which he ordered to be moored at Hillebrand's coal dock. The wedding ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. D. B. Loughran, on Main street. Mr. and Mrs. Darling quietly slipped upstairs to dress for going away and then disappeared. The relatives and friends, however, missed them and knowing they intended to catch the New York Central train at Rhinecliff they hurried out to waiting automobiles and set off in chase of the taxi bearing Mr. and Mrs. Darling. The taxi, however, managed to keep well in advance and the couple jumped aboard the motor boat which pulled out into the creek as the other automobiles reached the scene and the wedding guests in an effort to shower the escaping couple sprinkled the waters of the creek with their rice and confetti.

For some time past Superintendent Legg of the fire alarm circuit has had a force of men busy placing the fire alarm system in better condition to withstand the heavy storms which in the past have placed the system out of commission for three days at a stretch. A new cable from the city hall to the central fire station and from the central fire station to Broadway has been placed underground making a complete underground cable connection from the city hall all along Broadway. This arrangement will save considerable wire trouble as in the past the fire alarm wires were placed under the high tension wires of the Kingston Gas & Electric Company which if broken for any reason placed the entire fire alarm circuit out of commission when the high tension wires fell on the fire alarm wires. This occurred last winter and the entire system was out of commission for three days.

On West O'Reilly street a cable has also been run underground to a point near the rear of the new high school site and then the wires are carried over the poles on poles of the telephone company to Peter street, the old fire alarm wires being taken off the high tension line of the electric company.

The central fire station has also been connected with the city hall by a separate circuit. This arrangement has increased the efficiency of the fire alarm circuit for the reason that if one circuit is put out of commission the central fire station is sure to get an alarm from the other three circuits which are run into the fire station.

To afford better fire protection to the business sections of the city a plan is now being contemplated to connect the three paid fire stations, Wiltwyck, Cornell and central fire station, with the Broadway underground cable. At the present time the underground cable on Broadway only runs as far as the intersection of Pearl street and would mean that about 1,000 feet would have to be laid from Pearl street to the Wiltwyck station. When that is done all of the fire boxes on Broadway could be connected with this underground circuit and no matter how heavy a storm visited Kingston the fire circuit in the business sections from the Strand to the Wiltwyck engine house could not be placed out of commission, and an alarm rung in from the lower section of the city or the upper section of the city would be rung into all three of the paid stations.

The fire alarm circuit at the present time is in the most efficient condition of its history.

BIG REAL ESTATE SALE.

Broadway, New York, Lots to be Sold at Auction.

On June 23 the last large parcel of Broadway lots in New York city will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder by Joseph P. Day and J. Clarence Davis. The property, which is composed of one hundred and ninety-seven 25x100 foot lots will be disposed of without reserve to the highest bidder. The property is directly on Broadway, the great 75 foot thoroughfare which runs directly from the heart of Manhattan to Yonkers. On the east side of the avenue is Van Cortland Park which adds to the attractiveness and value of the property as a residential as well as business section. The property is graded, curbed, flagged, sewer connections made and the pavement laid and the assessments paid.

The property can be reached by subway to Two Hundred Forty-second street and then by trolley; by the Sixth or Ninth Avenue elevator to One Hundred Fifty-fifth street and the Putnam division of the New York Central to Carl Station near the property. In addition there are surface cars which pass the lots.

The growth of New York city north has been rapid in the past few years and real estate values have risen greatly and will continue to increase for years to come.

NEWLYWEDS ESCAPED.

Auto and Motor Boat Saved Them From Shower of Rice.

An automobile chase down Broadway was the climax to the Darling-Crump wedding at the First Dutch Church on Tuesday when the bridal couple were pursued by relatives and friends in an effort to shower them with rice and confetti. Mr. Darling before the ceremony had been wise enough to hire not only a taxi but also Perrine's motor boat which he ordered to be moored at Hillebrand's coal dock. The wedding ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. D. B. Loughran, on Main street. Mr. and Mrs. Darling quietly slipped upstairs to dress for going away and then disappeared. The relatives and friends, however, missed them and knowing they intended to catch the New York Central train at Rhinecliff they hurried out to waiting automobiles and set off in chase of the taxi bearing Mr. and Mrs. Darling. The taxi, however, managed to keep well in advance and the couple jumped aboard the motor boat which pulled out into the creek as the other automobiles reached the scene and the wedding guests in an effort to shower the escaping couple sprinkled the waters of the creek, with their rice and confetti.

SALLY TOCK'S INN.

Picturesque and Historic Feature of Stone Ridge Village.

What will prove a most pleasing and satisfactory stopping place on the old King's Highway from the south to Kingston is the re-establishing at Stone Ridge of the old Revolutionary inn kept by one Sally Tock and now called Sally Tock's Inn. Whether the family name of the early proprietors was Tock or Tack, the pronunciation was Tock in either case, hence the present spelling. Stone Ridge itself is one of the prettiest little villages imaginable and boasts of two very old historic houses, the Wynkoop-Lounsbury house and this, the Tock Inn. From the time when the eye meets the striking old time swing sign at the doorway to the time of departure one experiences nothing but restful comfort and enjoyment. The sign shows a most striking silhouette of Mistress Sally which same likeness is silhouetted on menus and announcements. Mistress Sally was certainly a most charming hostess and no doubt kept up the traditions of all inn keepers; a good bonfire must himself enjoy the good things of life. As you enter the front porch, you will notice overhead an old time lantern, whose glass cylinder with its knobs and projections, is one of the very first pieces of molded glass made in this country.

The charming hostess, herself a lineal descendant of Mistress Tock, makes you feel immediately at home on entering and before you can take in the beautifully arranged interior, you are in the register with a quill pen mind you at that. The prevailing note of the whole place is an arrangement all in harmony and all in entire keeping with the colonial idea with not a discordant note and yet Mistress Sally, should her astral body appear, might cast a suspicious glance at some of the modern contraptions as electric lights and an electric water heater. Still she would find restful complacency over the furniture and furnishings all dating back to her own time.

Off the entrance hall is a tiny room which, in its time, was an old doctor's office but now serves with its quaint old desk as an office for the management. Adjoining this is the refreshment room, where amid cool and dainty surroundings, you enjoy the good, delicious home-cooked food that is served to you. In the parlour, you will find a very odd and interesting arrangement as they do around. Here may be seen a also purchased dainty flower baskets modeled after an identical one owned by Mistress Sally herself. Here is her sampler and about the room are silhouettes of other members of the family. As Mistress Tock's latest descendant serves you, she will show you the dents in the beams overhead made by the soldiers as they prodded their guns upward into the ceiling. If you show any further interest she will show you a massive old key with a heavy ring at the end, the key of the first court house in Kingston. You may be allowed to handle Sally Tock's own catechism, printed in the good old Holland Dutch tongue and type. If you can master the pages many interesting questions and answers will be deciphered. After a while you may be shown about the place, up a tiny staircase into the ball room with the quaintest wall-clock from Bethlehem, Penna.

Just off from this room is a quaint Dutch porch, lighted up at dusk by an old time, tin, perforated lantern. Paul Revere lantern they are called by some, where under the dim light from this lantern, one may enjoy his refreshment free from the noise and bustle of the street and may feel himself far off in the country. The immense fireplace in the kitchen is also well worth a visit. If you wish, you will be shown up the oddest, railed staircase to the attic that can be imagined, so simple as not to attract notice and yet, when attention is drawn to it, its charm and quaintness are easily seen and appreciated. Now just a little history: Washington, whose occupation during the most active period of his life was the occupying of beds for the evident pride of later mortals who might own them, did not stop here but he did spend the night in 1783 in the house opposite, as the guest of his friend, Col. Cornelius Wynkoop, large as the Wynkoop house was, still not all his escort could have found lodgment there, so some were no doubt glad to avail themselves of the hospitality and cheer of the tavern then presided over by Mistress Sally Tock. It was in this tavern that Col. Levi Pawling, one of the noted men of this section, presided as judge of the Court of Sessions; a Masonic lodge was held in the upper room of the house and from a notice it would seem that the inn was not above harboring individuals whom the laws might require for their benefit; in 1777 an order was issued from Hurley to apprehend certain men stopping at Tack's Tavern, who were attempting to carry leather from Stone Ridge to Bethlehem, Penna.

Sally Tock or Tack, whose name has been often mentioned in this sketch, was the widow of Johannes Tack; she succeeded him in the tavern keeping business which he had established, and was herself succeeded by her son John, who maintained the place as a tavern until about 1830. This John was the great, great, great grandson of Aart Pietersen Tack, who was one of the pioneer settlers of Wiltywyck.

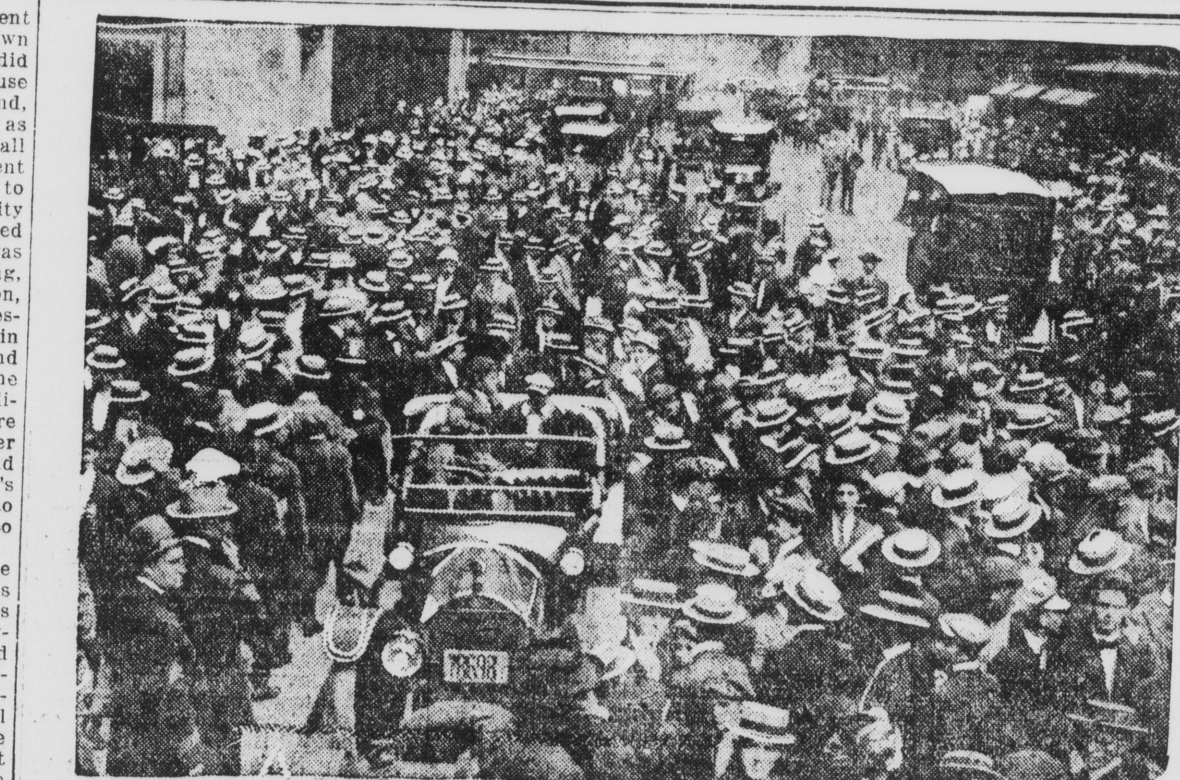

Now as for the service and delicious things to be served, that is a story by itself.

He Knew They Would.

Spacer—"I believe that if Shakespeare were alive at the present time and trying to live by his pen in London the comic papers would reject many of his best jokes." H-morist—"I know it. I have tried 'em all."

Real Meaning of Leisure.

"Leisure," says Deacon W. C. Palmer, "is no time to loaf. It's a time to do those things you've been wanting to do."

LARGE CROWD CAUSES FIVE CHICAGO BANKS TO CLOSE.

Crowd of depositors in front of closed La Salle Street Trust and Savings Bank. This photograph was taken after the five Chicago banks in which William Lorimer, impeached U. S. Senator, was supposed to hold the controlling interest, closed their doors because of inability to meet a check for $545,000 drawn by the Board of Education.

Scotch Bard's Remarkable Eyes.

The most striking feature of Burns was his large dark eye. It was, we are told by one writer, "full of mind and literally glowed when he spoke with emotion or interest." Sir Walter Scott, who knew the poet when he lived in Edinburgh, says: "I never saw such another eye in a human head, and I have seen the most distinguished men of my time."

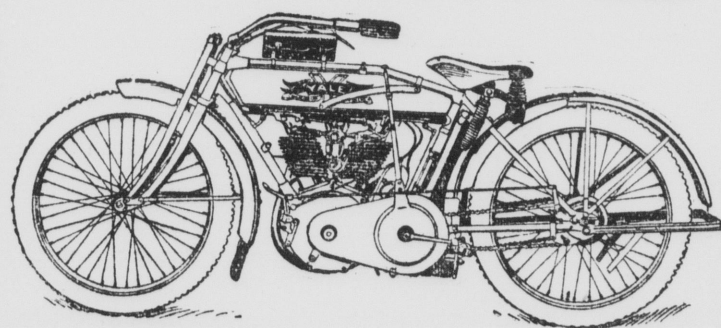

Jumping the Traces.

It seems to be normal in people to crave abnormal experiences. The trouble with taking a fling, as one sometimes terms a light indiscretion, is that it coarsens the timber and fiber of personality. Growth is the only thing worth while in experience, and folly is never a direct road to any goal.—Los Angeles Times.

Removing Paint.

To remove paint from chairs and other painted articles, mix thoroughly equal parts of common baking soda and slaked lime. Moisten with water to the consistency of paint and apply, allowing to remain on for several minutes. Wash off, and the paint will come with it. If paint is old and hard, allow preparation to remain on a little longer.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

From the time when the eye meets the striking old time swing sign at the doorway to the time of departure one experiences nothing but restful comfort and enjoyment. The sign shows a most striking silhouette of Mistress Sally, which same likeness is silhouetted on menus and announcements. Mistress Sally was certainly a most interesting character and no doubt kept up the traditions of all inn keepers; a good boniface must himself enjoy the good things of life. As you enter the front porch, you will notice overhead an old time lantern, whose glass cylinder with its knobs and projections, is one of the very first pieces of molded glass made in this country.

The charming hostess, herself a lineal descendant of Mistress Tock, makes you feel immediately at home on entering and before you can take in the beautifully arranged interior, you are asked to inscribe your name in the register with a quill pen mind you at that. The prevailing note of the whole place is an arrangement all in harmony and all in entire keeping with the colonial idea with not a discordant note and yet Mistress Sally, should her astral body appear, might cast a suspicious glance at some of the modern contraptions as electric lights and an electric water heater. Still she would find restful complacency over the furniture and furnishings all dating back to her own time.

Off the entrance hall is a tiny room which, in its time, was an old doctor's office but now serves with its quaint old desk as an office for the management. Adjoining this is the refreshment room, where amid cool and dainty surroundings, you enjoy the good, delicious home-baked cake that is served to you. Looking for this service, you go on the mantelpiece a very odd and interesting as they do, standing at rest with music on the ground. Here may be seen also purchased dainty flower baskets modeled after an identical one owned by Mistress Sally herself. Here is her sampler and about the room are silhouettes of other members of the family. As Mistress Tock's latest descendant serves you, she will show you the dents in the beams overhead made by the soldiers as they prodded their guns upward into the ceiling. If you show any further interest she will show you a massive old key with a heavy ring at the end, the key of the first court house in Kingston. You may be allowed to handle Sally Tock's own catechism, printed in the good old Holland Dutch tongue and type. If you can master the pages many interesting questions and answers will be deciphered. After a while you may be shown about the place, up a tiny staircase into the ball room with the quaintest wall-clock from Belfast ticking steadily at the end of the room.

Just off from this room is a quaint Dutch perch, lighted up at dusk by an old time, tin, perforated lantern. Paul Revere lantern they are called by some, where under the dim light from this lantern, one may enjoy his refreshment free from the noise and bustle of the street and may feel himself far off in the country. The immense fireplace in the kitchen is also well worth a visit. If you wish, you will be shown up the oldest, railed staircase to the attic that can be imagined, so simple as not to attract notice and yet, when attention is drawn to it, its charm and quaintness are easily seen and appreciated. Now just a little history: Washington, whose occupation during the most active period of his life was the

The most striking feature of Burns was his large dark eye. It was, we are told by one writer, "full of mind and literally glowed when he spoke with emotion or interest." Jumping the Traces.

It seems to be normal in people to crave abnormal experiences. The trouble with taking a fling, as one sometimes terms a light indiscretion, is that it coarsens the timber and fiber of personality. Removing Paint.

To remove paint from chairs and other painted articles, mix thoroughly equal parts of common baking soda and slaked lime. Moisten with water to the consistency of paint and apply, allowing to remain on for several minutes. Wash off, and the paint will come with it. If paint is old and hard, allow preparation to remain on a little longer.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

RAILROADS REDUCE FORCE OF EMPLOYEES

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 17.—Railroads of the east have been compelled to reduce their forces and 40,000,000 bushels of grain which would have come here under normal conditions, within the next six months have not been moved, it was learned today.

Because of the falling off in business, five thousand of the New York Central employees between New York and Buffalo have been laid off or put on part time. Clerks employed by the Pennsylvania R. R. have been compelled to take four days vacation each month at their own expense.

"The reduction in our force is due to a decline of about eight per cent in the business of this year as compared to last," today said T. A. Hardin, vice-president of the Central, who has charge of the operating department.

"Under normal conditions there should have been an increase of about five per cent in our business under the rule of progression. A good many men laid off, were in the construction department and their work is completed. We do not feel justified under present business conditions in inaugurating new work unless it is absolutely necessary to the maintenance of the lines."

KIERSTED WILL ADDRESS VETERANS

George F. Kiersted of this city has been invited to make the annual address to the Civil War survivors of the Eighth United States Infantry, of which he was a member, which will be held at Philadelphia on August 18. Mr. Kiersted enlisted in the regiment at Philadelphia on October 13, 1863, and was discharged on October 14, 1865. The regiment was engaged in the battles of Olustee, Florida; Petersburg Deep Bottoms, New Market, Chaffin Farm and Strawberry Plains. The regiment left Philadelphia recruited up to its full strength of 1,200 men, and when mustered out of service there were but 323 remaining. In the Florida battle the regiment lost 300 men and its first colonel. Mr. Kiersted was wounded three times during the war. He was first sergeant of his company and came home in command of the men as the company did not have a line officer left. There were but 23 men in the company of the original 101. The remaining members of the regiment have a fine organization at Philadelphia and their annual reunions have been big affairs.

ATL BILE NOTES.

Meyer and Sam Affron have purchased a Ford automobile.

Orren V. Kennedy, proprietor of the Central Garage, has sold a Reo touring car to Arthur G. Carr of this city.

Pregnation, a common source of overheating and loss of power, is often the result of too rich a mixture and can therefore be avoided by making certain that the carburetor air inlet is sufficiently large and that the carburetor does not flood. Flooding of this does not always mean that the needle valve needs grinding in; it is generally brought about by wear on some or all of the float bearings. A little wear on each of these will account for the gasoline level being too high, thus causing a mixture which is too rich. The cure is to tap the needle valve rod a shade lower, so that the valve shuts off a little sooner.

Carburetors may sometimes be helped by substituting sheet lead as a material for manifold gaskets, instead of asbestos. The reason is that lead is a much better conductor of heat than asbestos, and hence some of the jacket heat warms the manifold and consequently the incoming mixture. If the manifold is cold, while the jacket near it is warm, and the studs to which the manifold is bolted are warm, the fitting of a sheet lead manifold is likely to improve carburetion in exactly the degree that the manifold is warmed by the heat from the jacket. Of course, the lead gasket should be very carefully fitted to prevent leaks, and should be made of soft sheet lead.

The STORY of JUNE 23rd, 1914

CHAPTER III

THE GROWTH ALONG BROADWAY

IT is mighty interesting to follow the growth of New York City along the line of Broadway.

The first settlement in the City was made in 1613. By 1700 Broadway had grown up to Pine Street—by 1800 up to Barclay Street.

The City Hall was built in 1809 with a Marble Front and Brown Stone Rear because the City Fathers never expected the City to grow further North.

By 1850 Broadway had grown up to 34th Street—by 1875 up to 59th—by 1890 up to 110th Street, with Harlem thickly settled around 125th Street.

Since 1900, Broadway has grown from 110th Street up to 207th Street, following the Subway—about 100 blocks in 14 years. There are Elevator Apartments now at Broadway and 212th Street, and there are Five-Story Apartments already built at 233rd Street and Broadway.

From 240th Street north to City-Line the East Side of Broadway is entirely occupied by Van Cortlandt Park. The West Side only can be developed.

Within the next five years Apartments Houses are sure to be built on the Broadway Front of the Broadway City-Line property because only a few hundred feet north of it Elevator Apartments have already been built.

New York certainly will have grown up to the City-Line property by this time and Yonkers has grown down to it to-day.

With Apartment Houses comes population—with population comes Quick and Large increase in Values; then come your Big Profits.

That's why you should read this story carefully and think about investing a few hundred dollars and getting some of these profits yourself.

TRAGIC BRAVERY.

Sublime Act of a Hero Who Went to a Watery Grave.

In the chapel at Glenalmond school in Perthshire, Scotland, there is a marble slab with this stirring story recorded upon it:

There was once in the school a pupil named Alexander Cumine Russell, who became an officer in the Seventy-fourth highlanders when only a lad of seventeen. In connection with the memorable loss of the Birkenhead he won immortal glory. The troopship struck upon a rock; the soldiers were formed in ranks upon the deck to die; the women and children were being saved in boats.

Russell was ordered into one of the boats to command it, and a little way off he watched with dimmed eyes the doomed ship. When she went down he saw creatures of the deep contending for his beloved comrades. Then he saw a sailor's form rise up close to the boat and a hand strive to grasp the side.

A woman in the craft called out in agony: "Save him! Oh, save him, sir! He is my husband," but there was no room for another, and the boat was laboring heavily as it was. Russell looked at the woman and then at her children, then at those beseeching eyes in the deep, and rising in the stern, he plunged into the water and helped the sailor into what had been his own place. Then amid a chorus of "God bless you" from every one in the boat the brave young officer turned to meet his death.—Pearson's Weekly.

His Thirst.

Husband—May, just send up some filtered water. Wife—Which was it last night. "Detained at the office" or "A friend at the club?" Husband—Why? Wife—Because I didn't know whether you wanted a tumbler or a pallful.—London Opinion.

Improving Slowly.

"How is your cousin getting on, Jane?" "Nicely, thank you, ma'am, but he had an awful time. They performed three autopsies on him at the hospital before he began to get better."—Baltimore American.

Didn't Agree With Him.

"You should never take anything that doesn't agree with you," the physician told him.

"If I'd always followed that rule, Maria," he remarked to his wife, "where would you be?"—London Express.

Pike's Peak.

Zebulon Montgomery Pike, an officer in the United States army, discovered the famous peak that bears his name on Nov. 15, 1806.

The STORY of JUNE 23rd, 1914

CHAPTER III

THE GROWTH ALONG BROADWAY

IT is mighty interesting to follow the growth of New York City along the line of Broadway.

The first settlement in the City was made in 1613.

By 1700 Broadway had grown up to Pine Street—by 1800 up to Barclay Street.

The City Hall was built in 1809 with a Marble Front and Brown Stone Rear because the City Fathers never expected the City to grow further North.

By 1850 Broadway had grown up to 34th Street—by 1875 up to 59th—by 1900 up to 110th Street, with Harlem thickly settled around 125th Street.

Since 1900, Broadway has grown from 110th Street up to 207th Street, following the Subway—about 100 Blocks in 14 years. There are Elevator Apartments now at Broadway and 212th Street, and there are Five-Story Apartments already built at 233rd Street and Broadway.

From 240th Street north to City-Line the East Side of Broadway is entirely occupied by Van Cortlandt Park. The West Side only can be developed.

Within the next five years Apartments Houses are sure to be built on the Broadway Front of the Broadway City-Line property because only a few hundred feet north of it Elevator Apartments have already been built.

New York certainly will have grown up to the City-Line property by this time and Yonkers has grown down to it to-day.

With Apartment Houses comes population—with population comes Quick and Large increase in Values; then come your Big Profits.

That's why you should read this story carefully and think about investing a few hundred dollars and getting some of these profits yourself.

TRAGIC BRAVERY.

Sublime Act of a Hero Who Went to a Watery Grave.

In the chapel at Glenalmond school in Perthshire, Scotland, there is a marble slab with this stirring story recorded upon it:

There was once in the school a pupil named Alexander Cumine Russell, who became an officer in the Seventy-fourth highlanders when only a lad of seventeen. In connection with the memorable loss of the Birkenhead he won immortal glory. The troopship struck upon a rock; the soldiers were formed in ranks upon the deck to die; the women and children were being saved in boats.

Russell was ordered into one of the boats to command it, and a little way off he watched with dimmed eyes the doomed ship. When she went down he saw creatures of the deep contending for his beloved comrades. Then he saw a sailor's form rise up close to the boat and a hand strive to grasp the side.

A woman in the craft called out in agony: "Save him! Oh, save him, sir! He is my husband," but there was no room for another, and the boat was laboring heavily as it was. Russell looked at the woman and then at her children, then at those beseeching eyes in the deep, and, rising in the stern, he plunged into the water and helped the sailor into what had been his own place. Then amid a chorus of "God bless you" from every one in the boat the brave young officer turned to meet his death.—Pearson's Weekly.

His Thirst.

Husband—May, just send up some filtered water. Wife—Which was it last night. "Detained at the office" or "A friend at the club"? Husband—Why? Wife—Because I didn't know whether you wanted a tumbler or a painful.—London Opinion.

Improving Slowly.

"How is your cousin getting on, Jane?" "Nicely, thank you, ma'am, but he had an awful time. They performed three autopsies on him at the hospital before he began to get better."—Baltimore American.

Didn't Agree With Him.

"You should never take anything that doesn't agree with you," the physician told him.

"If I'd always followed that rule, Maria," he remarked to his wife, "where would you be?"—London Express.

Pike's Peak.

Zebulon Montgomery Pike, an officer in the United States army, discovered the famous peak that bears his name on Nov. 15, 1806.

The meeting was called to order at the Waldron opera house at 10:30 and a band of 25 pieces kept the delegates in good humor until the business was taken up. The reports of the officers of the association were given and the usual routine business disposed of. Mr. Powers, secretary of the state association, gave an address on the work of the state association in connection with the Hudson Valley Volunteer Association.

The superintendent of the Firemen's Home at Hudson was present and gave an address. He invited the members of the H. V. F. A. to visit the home at Catskill and a donation of $100 was made the same by the association.

Major Canfield, Secretary Hoehn, and Ex-Mayor Connelly and Mayor Canfield made an address pointing out why Kingston should be chosen as the next meeting place of the association. Troy also wanted the convention next year but Kingston's prospects brightened as the convention progressed and when a vote was taken Kingston was unanimously chosen as the next meeting place.

Ex-Mayor Irwin made the nomination speech for Mr. Fowler for president and the vote was unanimous. Seth Cole of Catskill was elected vice president; James O. O'Brien of Poughkeepsie, second vice president, and Patrick McCarthy of Poughkeepsie, third vice president. J. F. Hahn was elected to the board of directors. The delegates to the state convention will be the H. V. F. A.

The members of the Kingston delegation were busy distributing literature and circulars showing the advantages of Kingston and under their own hands Troy opposition soon disappeared.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 17.—Pronounced weakness was shown in Western Union at the opening of the stock market today, the selling movement which began yesterday being continued. This issue opened at 59 against 60 1/2 at the close last night. Although some issues showed firmness the undertone showed the effect of pessimistic dispatches from Niagara Falls, Ont., to the effect that a collapse of the mediation conference is probable. Canadian Pacific, which was purchased from London, began with an advance of 1/4. Reading began with a gain of 1/4 which was soon lost and at the end of twenty minutes it had suffered a net decline of 1/4. The same amount of loss was sustained in United States Steel common. International Harvester Company opened at 137 for the loss of 3/4 and other fractional declines were sustained by Anaconda Copper, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Missouri Pacific and Mexican Petroleum. Amalgamated Copper began 1/4 higher but soon increased its lead. The curb was steady. Americans in London were quiet.

Noon.—The speculative interest during the late forenoon continued in Western Union. That stock recovered part of its early loss, moving up 1/2 to 59 1/2. United States Steel was off 1/4 and Amalgamated Copper 1/4. Missouri Pacific was another weak feature, selling down to 16, a loss of one point. Fractional declines were also sustained in Reading, Union Pacific and a few of the other important railroad stocks.

2:30 p. m.—Mexican Petroleum rallied from its low point in the final hour of trading selling around 58 1/2. This price however, represented a net loss of 3 points on the day. Pressure was directed against Great Northern Pfd., which was a lower. London was a fairly large buyer or the declines would have been larger in size. Amalgamated Copper and Steel held fairly firm, but were below their opening. There was considerable anxiety felt in Wall street over the future development in Mexico.

The New York stock market closed dull; governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

SWIMMING CLASS GROWS LARGER

On Tuesday there was an increase of ninety boys in the classes which took instruction in swimming from Expert Corsan at the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool. Mr. Corsan said he noticed marked improvement in the work of the boys. The number of men taking instruction has increased from 20 to 45. Other classes will be held this afternoon and evening. That this special instruction did one real good was evidenced on Tuesday when a city physician present noticed that one of the boys was suffering from hernia. It will be possible to correct this now in his youth while it had been allowed to go without treatment may have been the cause of great suffering in after life.

Another exhibition will be given by Mr. Corsan on Friday. This will be open to the public, men, women and children. The capacity of the pool is 150 to 200 and tickets can be procured at the Y. M. C. A. office. Mr. Christian intends to break his record of staying under water at that exhibition. He hopes to lower the record to two minutes.

His class presented the University with a large American flag, together with a fund for its maintenance. A salute to the colors was fired from the same cannon which was fired at midnight February 22, 1886, in the cemetery by Mr. Atkins and a couple of other freshmen. The faculty of the college and the mayor of the city had forbidden the firing of the cannon on Washington's birthday. MENKE'S DAILY
SPORTS REVIEW

New York, June 17.—The ball player, in pursuing his "hazardous" occupation, often risks his enslaved young life, according to one of the articles that bear Christy Mathewson's name as author, but which Christy doesn't write and probably doesn't see until he orbs them on the newspapers that print 'em.

Mister Mathewson, (or, rather, the guy who writes the Mathewson articles), asserts with vehemence that a ball player gambles with fate every time he ambles to the plate. He asserts that the player takes his life right in his hands—and off his feet, too—when he slides for a base. Also the player runs the risk of having his skull busted when he attempts to field a fly ball, for who knows but some day that ball will slip right through his hands, kerplunk on his coco, and then—"another little job for the undertaker; another little job for the casket maker."

Well, what of it, Mister Mathewson? Why do you try to hold up the ball player as the poorest possible risk for an accident insurance company? Is a ball player's life in any greater danger than that of a structural iron worker, steeple jack or a husband who goes home on Saturday night with a shortage in the pay envelope?

How about the chances a guy has to take when he's caught red handed by the boss while he's in the act of expressing his true opinion of the boss to the rest of the office force? How about the chances King George and Premier Asquith must take since Emmy Pankhurst got out of jail? How about the umpires, General Huerta and Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh "White Hope" as poor insurance risks?

It is to laugh when this Mathewson article attempts to make out that baseball is a really dangerous occupation. The percentage of deaths through accidents in baseball is only about one person killed for every 1,000,000 persons playing the game and the ratio of serious injuries in baseball is so small that it's hardly discernible even under a microscope.

Harry Stone, a former New York newsboy, is an example of how a fellow can mine gold in Australia with a pair of boxing gloves.

About a year ago Stone used to figure occasionally in preliminaries in and around New York, gladly accepting $5 $10, or $25 for taking a beating. Stone, even as a pre-fighter, didn't stack up very high hereabouts. And then he disappeared to be heard of again just as he was about to sail from Australia for England where has some big purse matches in prospect.

Stone went to Australia direct from New York and landed there with hardly enough money to buy the next morning's meal. And now he's got $12,000 stowed away in his jeans.

He harpooned a job doing premiums down in Kanzeroo Land and he who wasn't looked upon as even a fifth rater in New York made a big hit with the promoters and the fight hungry fans. He jumped from the prelude to a star bout man and he made good. The Australians now say he's the best middleweight that has come to the fore in the past 10 years.

Jess Willard, a former cow puncher, who has been essaying the roll of man-puncher for a year or two, years to meet Jack Johnson, Frank Moran or Gunboat Smith Willard, who is six feet six inches removed from Mother Earth, and who totes around 240 pounds, thinks he can win from 'em all and prove to the public what he has long believed—that he's the best heavyweight in the world.

Recalling how Willard conducted himself in his bout with Carl Morris in New York last December we quite agree with Willard in his contention that he's the greatest heavyweight—the weight being mostly in his feet.

WOULD OMIT WORD "OBEY"

(Dr. Anna Howard Shaw.)

Philadelphia, June 17.—"The marriage ceremony has outlived its usefulness and should be relegated to oblivion." This briefly is the view of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Woman Suffrage Association, who has just returned from a two months' visit in Europe. "I have always believed in making the ceremony fit the occasion. In other words, I have a different service for each marriage."

"As for the word 'obey,' I had only one girl who wanted to make such a crazy promise. In fact she insisted upon it. There was only one thing for me to do—and that was to refuse to marry her. She had to go elsewhere to have the ceremony performed. The marriage service, for one thing, is a poll parrot affair. The methods as used in reciting the pledge is ridiculous, to say the least. There is no solemnity, dignity or character to that kind of a marriage, continued Dr. Shaw.

CASH BETWEEN REBEL LEADERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

E Paso, Tex., June 17.—There is no serious break between Gen. Francisco Villa and Gen. Venustiano Carranza, first chief of the Constitutionalists, according to agents of the rebel generals in Juarez.

Despite the fact that soldiers loyal to Villa seized the custom house and the reins of civil government in Juarez, representatives of the constitutionalist general explained today that "a mistake" had been made. Notwithstanding this mistake Juarez remains in control of Villa's men.

An ominous situation seems to be developing as a result of the mystery attached to Mexican developments behind the scenes. Americans along the border do not know what to expect next.

If Gen. Villa, angered because of the elevation of Gen. Natera to a rank equal to his own, and slights of Carranza, is preparing to break away from the first chief of the Constitutionalists, the American military authorities fear another bloody revolution in Northern Mexico.

Gen. Villa is said to be at Torreon, but there were persistent reports current that he was about to start northward to Juarez accompanied by several of his most trusted officers.

Nearly thirty of the Carranza officials arrested in Juarez when the city was seized were put on board a special train and sent to Chihuahua City under heavy guards. They will later be taken to Villa's headquarters in Torreon.

A strict censorship has been placed over the telegraph wires leading from Torreon and Chihuahua City.

The conditions which prevailed today did not agree with the explanation of Villa's reports that an order had been misinterpreted and that civil government had been placed by mistake. There were signs that Villa was preparing for aggressive action of some kind.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

New York, June 17.—The ball player, in pursuing his "hazardous" occupation, often risks his enslaved young life, according to one of the articles that bear Christy Mathewson's name as author, but which Christy doesn't write and probably doesn't see until he orbs them on the newspapers that print 'em.

Mister Mathewson, (or, rather, the guy who writes the Mathewson articles), asserts with vehemence that a ball player gambles with fate every time he ambles to the plate. He asserts that the player takes his life right in his hands—and off his feet, too—when he slides for a base. Also the player runs the risk of having his skull busted when he attempts to field a fly ball, for who knows but some day that ball will slip right through his hands, kerplunk on his coco, and then—"another little job for the undertaker; 'nother little job for the casket maker."

Well, what of it, Mister Mathewson? Why do you try to hold up the ball player as the poorest possible risk for an accident insurance company? Is a ball player's life in any greater danger than that of a structural iron worker, steely jack or a husband who goes home on Saturday night with a shortage in the pay envelope?

How about the chances a guy has to take when he's caught red handed by the boss while he's in the act of expressing his true opinion of the boss to the rest of the office force? How about the chances King George and Premier Asquith must take since Emmy Pankhurst got out of jail? How about the umpires, General Huerta and Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh "White Hope" as poor insurance risks?

It is to laugh when this Mathewson article attempts to make out that baseball is a really dangerous occupation. The percentage of deaths through accidents in baseball is only about one person killed for every 1,000,000 persons playing the game and the ratio of serious injuries in baseball is so small that it's hardly discernible even under a microscope.

Harry Stone, a former New York newsboy, is an example of how a fellow can mine gold in Australia with a pair of boxing gloves.

About a year ago Stone used to figure occasionally in preliminaries in and around New York, gladly accepting $5, $10 or $25 for taking a beating. Stone, even as a prelim fighter, didn't stack up very high hereabouts. And then he disappeared, to be heard of again just as he was about to sail from Australia for England where he has some big purse matches in prospect.

Stone went to Australia direct from New York and landed there with hardly enough money to buy the next morning's meal. And now he's got $12,000 stowed away in his jeans.

He harpooned a job doing prelims down in Kangaroo Land and he who wasn't looked upon as even a fifth rater in New York made a big hit with the promoters and the fight hungry fans. He jumped from the prelims to a star bout man and he made good. The Australians now say he's the best middleweight that has come to the fore in the past 10 years.

Jess Willard, a former cow puncher, who has been essaying the roll of man-puncher for a year or two, years to meet Jack Johnson, Frank Moran or Gunboat Smith. Willard, who is six feet six inches removed from Mother Earth, and who totes around 240 pounds, thinks he can win from 'em all and prove to the public what he has long believed—that he's the best heavyweight in the world.

Recalling how Willard conducted himself in his bout with Carl Morris at New York last December we quite

WOULD OMIT WORD "OBEY."
(Dr. Anna Howard Shaw.)

Philadelphia, June 17.—"The marriage ceremony has outlived its usefulness and should be relegated to oblivion." This briefly is the view of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Woman Suffrage Association, who has just returned from a two months' visit in Europe. "I have always believed in making the ceremony fit the occasion. In other words, I have a different service for each marriage."

"As for the word 'obey,' I had only one girl who wanted to make such a crazy promise. In fact she insisted upon it. There was only one thing for me to do—and that was to refuse to marry her. She had to go elsewhere to have the ceremony performed. The marriage service, for one thing, is a poll parrot affair." The methods as used in reciting the pledge is ridiculous, to say the least. There is no solemnity, dignity or character to that kind of a marriage, continued Dr. Shaw.

CASH BETWEEN REBEL LEADERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

F Paso, Tex., June 17.—There is no serious break between Gen. Francisco Villa and Gen. Venustiano Carranza, first chief of the Constitutionalists, according to agents of the rebel generals in Juarez.

Despite the fact that soldiers loyal to Villa seized the custom house and the reins of civil government in Juarez, representatives of the constitutionalist general explained today that "a mistake" had been made. Notwithstanding this mistake Juarez remains in control of Villa's men.

An ominous situation seems to be developing as a result of the mystery attached to Mexican developments behind the scenes. Americans along the border do not know what to expect next.

If Gen. Villa, angered because of the elevation of Gen. Natera to a rank equal to his own, and slights of Carranza, is preparing to break away from the first chief of the Constitutionalists, the American military authorities fear another bloody revolution in Northern Mexico.

Gen. Villa is said to be at Torreon, but there were persistent reports current that he was about to start northward to Juarez accompanied by several of his most trusted officers.

Nearly thirty of the Carranza officials arrested in Juarez when the city was seized were put on board a special train and sent to Chihuahua City under heavy guards. They will later be taken to Villa's headquarters in Torreon.

A strict censorship has been placed over the telegraph wires leading from Torreon and Chihuahua City.

The conditions which prevailed today did not agree with the explanation of Villa's reports that an order had been misinterpreted and that civil government had been placed by mistake. There were signs that Villa was preparing for aggressive action of some kind.
